

Chrysler, Lewis Asked to Confer On Auto Strike

Governor Murphy Asks
Them to Meet Him
At Lansing
HOPE FOR SOLUTION
Expects to Avert 'Extreme and Costly
Measures'

New York.—Walter P. Chrysler in a telegram to Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan today said he would attend a conference announced by the governor for Lansing tomorrow, but added "we will not enter any trade to get the men out of the plants."

Detroit.—Governor Frank Murphy announced today that he expected Walter P. Chrysler and John L. Lewis to confer with him tomorrow at Lansing in an attempt to avert "extreme and costly measures with possible unfortunate consequences" in the Chrysler Corp. strike.

The governor, peacemaker in the recent General Motors strike, indicated he had assurance both men would accept his telegraphed invitations to face-to-face meeting, at 10 o'clock a. m., central standard time.

His announcement heightened hopes for a peaceful solution of strife that had grown more ominous day by day.

In identical telegrams to the chairman of the Chrysler Corp. board and to the militant chairman of the committee for industrial organization, the governor declared that the state would "employ all necessary and available means to uphold public authority."

Can't Duck Responsibility
His reference was to the writs of attachment issued by Circuit Judge Allan Campbell last Friday for the arrest of 6,000 strikers occupying eight Chrysler corp. plants in defiance of a court injunction. He said it was "expected" that Sheriff Thomas C. Wilcox, of Wayne county, would "request assistance of state authorities in execution of the writs."

"While respecting rights of workers and seeking to advance their proper interests by lawful means," the telegrams said, state government cannot forsake its responsibility.

"In view of large interests at stake, and desirability of ascertaining whether adjustment is possible before taking extreme and costly measures with possible unfortunate consequences, I am requesting that you and Mr. Walter P. Chrysler (Mr. John L. Lewis) confer with me in my office at 11 o'clock (P. M.) on Wednesday, March 24, in joint effort to find prompt satisfactory solution without unwarranted delay in enforcement of court's order. An early answer is requested."

Hopeful for Peace
During nearly three weeks of deadlock negotiations on the United Automobile Workers' demand for exclusive bargaining rights in Chrysler plants, the belief has grown that the dispute could be settled only by a face-to-face meeting of Chrysler and Lewis.

The governor's telegrams were dispatched after a night of telephone conversations with parties to the dispute and with federal labor department representatives. James F. Dewey, federal labor conciliator, was in Detroit.

As the new attack was made on the strike stalemate, the U. A. W. was preparing for a "show of strength" to be held in downtown Detroit under a compromise agreement with Mayor Frank Couzens. The meeting was to be held at 5:30 p. m. instead of 6 o'clock as originally planned, and in that portion of Cadillac square near the county building instead of on Woodward avenue, in order to minimize traffic congestion.

Councilman John C. Lodge, former mayor, cast the only dissenting vote today, as the council.

Nosed Out By Statisticians

The nation's supply of sauerkraut has shrunk to half of normal, said a recent announcement. Same week another paper stated that perfume sales in the U. S. are on the up-and-up. The correlation between the rise and fall of those two articles should interest nose specialists and other interior decorators. Not us. Classified want-ads can't sell good though used sauerkraut. But most anything else. This one worked in a quick sale on a gas range.

Walter P. Chrysler (above), chairman of the board of the Chrysler corporation, has been invited by Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan, to confer with him and John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., tomorrow at Lansing, Mich.

Utility Employees Robbed of $7,290 In Madison Holdup

Two Gunmen Get $2,977
In Cash, Remainder
In Checks

Madison.—Two men robbed a messenger and teller of the Madison Gas and Electric company today of $7,290.56, of which $2,977.00 was in cash and the rest in checks.

The robbers fled in an automobile while the victims, Cecil Johnson, company teller, and William Hughes, 18, ran to their office to report the holdup.

Jerome T. Feeney, gas company treasurer, announced the amount of the loot. He had handed a bag containing the checks and money to the two employees a few minutes earlier with instructions to deposit it at the First National bank.

The robbers approached as Johnson and Hughes stepped out of the office. One robber took the cash bag from Johnson, and the other forced Hughes to hand over another bag containing company papers.

"Now line up against the building and don't move," one of the gunmen ordered.

Johnson gave police the license number on the robbers' car. Police Chief William H. McCormick took charge of the search for the gunmen.

The holdup was the second under similar circumstances here within a month. Two Union company employees were held up about four weeks ago and robbed of $3,066. One suspect in the robbery has been bound over for trial. The Celon employees said three gunmen participated.

Flames Threaten Drydock, Ships

Electric Crane Operating Between Vessels Bursts
Into Fire

Boston.—Sea and land fire fighting apparatus dashed to the east Boston docks today as an electric crane operating in a drydock between the United Fruit company boats San Gil and San Bruno burst into flames, threatening both vessels.

The San Gil caught fire soon after the first burst of flame. Firemen, enveloped in a dense cloud of black smoke, poured water not only on this vessel but on the San Bruno as well, in an effort to keep the sparks from spreading.

Education Professor Succumbs at Madison

Madison.—Dr. Frank L. Clapp, 59, professor of education at the University of Wisconsin for over 17 years, died today. He underwent an operation a month ago.

Born at Forest Hill, Ind., in 1877, Prof. Clapp was graduated from Oakland City, Ind., High school in 1895. He received a B. S. degree from Lincoln college in 1911, an M. A. from the University of Illinois in 1912, and a Ph. D. from the University of Wisconsin in 1914.

Utilities Bills Are Tabled in State Senate

Party Lines Split on Roll
Call on Each of Three Measures

BALLOTS ARE CLOSE

Chief Plan Favored Competing Plants Without Commission O. K.

Madison.—The senate killed today by indefinite postponement three bills designed to permit free competition by municipal utilities with privately-owned plants.

The principal measure, allowing establishment of competing plants without consent of the public service commission, was defeated 18 to 12. A bill permitting expansion and improvement of existing municipal utilities without commission approval lost 15 to 14, and a proposal to allow municipalities to establish plants solely for municipal purposes was killed by a voice vote.

All the bills were offered by Senator Kenneth White (R), River Falls.

The senate first advanced one of White's bills allowing municipal utilities to turn part of their income into school uses. Then the senators, as the other bills came up one by one, changed all their titles to "abolition of regulation of municipal utilities by the public service commission" and then rejected them. Party lines were split on every roll call.

How Senate Voted
Three Progressives joined with Democrats and Republicans in the senate to kill the principal free competition bill which had the endorsement of the LaFollette administration. They were Senator Roland E. Kannerberg, Wausau; Frank Panzer, Oakfield; and Joseph E. McDermid, Ladysmith.

The roll call on the bill was: For: Anderson, Busby, Cashman, Engelbrecht, Ingram, Kresgy, Leverich, Paulson, Risser, Rowlands and Smith, all Progressives; White, Republican.

Against: Bolens, Callan, Clancy, Dempsey, Galasinski, Morrissey, Schoenacker and Zimny, Democrats; Coakley, Duell, Mack, Morris, Nelson, Roethe and Shearer, Republicans; Panzer, Kannerberg, and McDermid, Progressives.

Two senators were paired and one was absent.

The senate will get another chance to vote on a free competition proposal for the assembly today passed, 54 to 37, the Lomsdahl-Kelly bill which was identical with Senator White's measure. House approval was expected since the assembly already was on record favoring it.

Vote to 'Impeach' Mayor in Indiana

Huntington Official Prepares to Appeal to Circuit Court

Huntington, Ind.—Mayor Clarence W. H. Bangs, former college president, declared "impeached" by the council of this city, today prepared an appeal to the Huntington county circuit court.

The council voted 5 to 2 for Bangs' conviction last night on 14 of 19 charges preferred July 28, 1936.

A lengthy manuscript, set down the specific charges which dealt with Bangs' activities to establish a municipal light and power plant.

The nineteenth count, termed the "shotgun charge," reviewed previous accusations in a general way. Before the council adjourned, Mayor Bangs told the group he doesn't "want anybody to misunderstand who is mayor of the city of Huntington." He also accused his five opponents of "selling out to the Northern Indiana Power company."

Bangs was brought to the hearing from the county jail where he had been held since July for ignoring a court order to disconnect private consumers from municipal company lines.

Negro Is Arrested as Slayer in New Jersey

Elizabeth, N. J.—A giant 33-year-old Negro was held today in the county jail on a charge of murder after authorities said he had confessed to the slaying of a wealthy 60-year-old woman and the beating and stabbing of her daughter, 26, at Plainfield.

Union County Prosecutor Abe J. David said Doran Roach, the Negro, had admitted entering the home of Mrs. Celia Kadash yesterday and fatally beating her with an iron pipe. Roach told him he then stabbed the daughter, Jessie, with a screw driver, David said.

Roach had worked in the Kadash home Thursday as a plasterer's helper. After having "a few drinks" Sunday night, David said, the Negro entered the Kadash home by walking up the outside rear stairs and crawling through a bathroom window.

Roosevelt Hopes Government Can Avoid New Taxes

Warm Springs, Ga.—(P)—President Roosevelt said today he hoped there would be no new taxes at this session of congress.

The chief executive made the statement at the second press conference of his vacation here.

He did not expand the tax observation. It was made in response to a request for comment on the recent statement of Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, that the budget should be balanced even if it were necessary to increase income and profits taxes.

The chief executive had no callers on his engagement list today. A secretary announced Mr. Roosevelt would preside at a buffet supper tomorrow night at Georgia hall, the Warm Springs foundation administration building, given for the young infantile paralysis victims here.

Mr. Roosevelt yesterday afternoon became the fifth president to receive an honorary membership in Phi Kappa, 117-year-old literary and oratorical society of the University of Georgia.

Loyalist Forces Still Pursuing Defeated Rebels

Italy Tells Britain Only
Doctors and Nurses
Landed in Spain

Madrid.—The government pressed its pursuit of General Tello's insurgent army today against the strategic supply centers of Jaquaga and Almadrones, 50 miles northeast of Madrid, to smash Mo's attempt to reorganize his routed forces.

Picked squadrons of government bombers harassed the insurgent commanders were speeding their effort to unify their disorganized forces.

Insurgent resistance, to cover the reinforcement developed along the west side of the Aragon highway. The diversion centered on Hita, where a small detachment put up a determined resistance until it was forced to withdraw slowly.

The government's virtually unopposed advance, six days after the insurgent assault army, placed the capital's defenders within striking distance of the positions held by the enemy at the outset of their fifth drive against Madrid.

Remaining Positions
The vital positions at Almadrones and Jadraque, distribution centers for the supply of the insurgent divisions, were all that stood in the way of the government sweep of upper Guadalupe province.

Insurgent air squadrons turned their attention to Madrid after a week's silence late yesterday, but were driven off by anti-aircraft batteries without dropping a bomb.

Early today a second squadron dropped over the city but no explosives were dropped. Government pursuit planes took to the air and circled low, on the alert to intercept possible raiders.

London.—Italy informed Great Britain today in reply to urgent queries concerning the reported landing of Italian troops in Spain that the contingent which disembarked at Cadiz March 5 was made up only of volunteer doctors and nurses.

No Italian troops have landed in Spain, the reply stated flatly. It was pointed out that foreign medical workers do not come under the ban on volunteers effected by 27 nations. In an accord of neutrality, last Feb. 20.

Authorized sources said Great Britain was satisfied with the answer on this point.

Port of Los Angeles Is Facing Paralysis

San Pedro, Calif.—The port of Los Angeles faced complete paralysis today.

An order suspending all ship loading and unloading, effective this morning, was given by the Waterfront Employers' association last night. About 30 ships were affected.

It was the association's reply to the picketing of seamen pickets at the dock of the freighter Lancaster. The association charged violation of the agreement which ended the 99-day strike of maritime unions this winter.

Picketing of the Lancaster began last week. The Sailors' Union of the Pacific demanded that members of east coast unions hired on the freighter be replaced by west coast union men and be transported back east by the ship operators.

All Rural Schools in East Texas Oil Field Face Inspection for Gas Threat

New London, Texas.—Rigid inspection of every rural school in the vast East Texas oil field area was the expected aftermath today of the disastrous Lancaster explosion—caused, experts agreed, by accumulated gas.

School doors were shut as safety experts began a search for possible similar conditions that killed 435 here.

Extreme caution pervaded the area especially after Gordon C. Hawley, chief engineer of the state's fire insurance department, told a military court of inquiry yesterday he had located another school in the vicinity endangered by escaping gas.

"A test a few hours ago," Hawley told the investigators, "at the Car-

Added Revenue Of 19 Million Asked in Bill

Joint Committee Backs
Plan Calling for 64 Million for Biennium

TWO ALTERNATIVES

Allotments Pro-Rated if Sufficient Revenues
Are Not Raised

Madison.—The legislature's joint finance committee recommended today for passage an amended budget bill calling for an increase of approximately $19,000,000 of state taxes for the next two fiscal years.

The bill carries approved appropriations of $64,000,000 for the biennium, but is drafted in such a way that if sufficient revenues are not raised the allotments for all state purposes will be pro-rated on the basis of funds available.

The finance committee has been struggling with the bill for nearly two months. When originally introduced at the request of Governor LaFollette it made provisional appropriations of $63,000,000. The committee added another $1,000,000 for the common schools.

The house voted today to place the measure on next week's calendar for the purpose of receiving amendments from individual members. Action on the bill probably will be deferred for several weeks and administration leaders hope to see the budget adopted before the issue of new taxation is settled.

Levies Expire July 1
Most of the emergency taxes on incomes and stock dividends, enacted in 1935, expire July 1. They yield close to $12,000,000 and if they are re-enacted the legislature still would have to raise another $7,000,000 to provide funds for all recommended appropriations.

The budget was presented in two principal forms, "A" and "B." The "A" budget allotted $54,000,000 and provided for a general 15 per cent reduction in current state operating costs. This figure is the estimate of normal revenues that will be available after July 1.

The "B" budget contains the appropriations recommended by the governor and revised by the finance committee. It contains a clause that if the legislature does not levy sufficient taxes to pay for the full $64,000,000 of requests, the emergency board automatically shall provide whatever tax increase is provided.

A third alternative budget, conditional almost entirely upon the state receiving federal funds for building purposes, was included in the bill. It would allow the state to raise the total allotments for the biennium to more than $80,000,000.

'Masked Terror' Shot To Death in Chicago
Chicago.—Two policemen shot and killed the "masked terror" of the Chicago Lawn district early today.

The slain man was identified by Miss Ann Weiner, daughter of a rabbi, as the masked gunman who attacked her early Sunday morning after robbing her escort and driving her to a lonely spot on the southwest side.

Police Captain William Collins said he was confident the man slain was the person who shot and killed without warning Mrs. Mary Irwin, wife of a policeman, as she was walking with her daughter two weeks ago.

The slain man wore a blue handkerchief mask and rubber gloves. A pair of earmuffs, believed part of his disguise, fell from his pockets as he tottered to the ground mortally wounded in the heart and abdomen.

Truce Called in Reich Rift With Protestants
Berlin.—Hans Kerrl, reichsminister for church affairs, called a truce today in the conflict between the government and rebellious Protestants as the first result of the condemnatory encyclical of Pope Pius.

Apparently not wanting to fight on two fronts, Kerrl issued a decree by which all affairs in the Evangelical church remain as they were. A 15 when Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler ordered general synodical elections.

Such church governments as existed at that time are recognized as legal, under the decree until after the elections. All disciplinary measures are suspended.

Torkelson said the fundamentals of highway design for safety are the same as the qualities necessary to make the road useful and attractive.

"We are neglecting our duty as citizens if we continue to urge expenditures for safe highways and at the same time fail to urge the enactment of proper laws for the control of the motor vehicle driver and to support thorough enforcement of these laws," he said.

Roosevelt Plan Would Weaken Court Prestige, Moley Tells Senators

Former Justice
Thinks Judiciary Program Is Legal

Says Roosevelt Plan
'Plainly Within Powers
Granted to Congress'

San Diego, Calif.—(P)—John Hessin Clarke, the supreme court justice who retired at 65, believes President Roosevelt's judiciary program is constitutional.

"Plainly within the powers granted to the congress and therefore clearly constitutional," was Clarke's opinion, rendered in a countrywide radio broadcast.

Now 79, the only living former member of the nation's highest tribunal, he spoke here last night, confining himself to "that naked legal question."

"Would a conditional increase of the number of judges of the supreme court by act of congress, as recommended by the president, be constitutional or not?"

Studiously avoiding criticism of the supreme court's recent decisions or the proposals of the president, Clarke drew upon history for his material.

Points to History
"In 50 years," he said, covering the period from 1789 to 1869, "the number of justices of the supreme court was first determined by act of congress; twice the number has been reduced, and five times it has been increased, always by act of congress, and never before has the power of congress under the constitution to thus legislate been questioned, certainly not in the courts."

Clarke, who resigned from the high bench after six years to devote his attention to the movement for world peace, said "the wise men who framed our constitution may have had more confidence in the wisdom and patriotism of the congresses and the presidents which were to come after them, and less confidence in courts than some seem to have today."

"The single question as I am considering it is: Is a conditional increase in the number of judges of the supreme court, by act of congress."

"Such an act would plainly be within the powers granted to the congress and therefore clearly constitutional."

War on Death Car
Drivers, Is Plea
Stringent Legislation Is Necessary, Torkelson Declares

Madison.—Death car drivers must be taken off the highways by stringent legislation, stringently enforced, M. W. Torkelson, director of regional planning and state WPA administrator, told the Wisconsin Safety conference today.

Registration clerks said they expected 1,000 municipal officials, and "safety-minded" citizens would attend the two-day discussion of methods by which the death toll from accidents may be reduced.

"About 5 per cent of highway accidents may be attributed to the vehicle, not less than 75 per cent to the driver of the vehicle, and more than 20 per cent to the road on which the vehicle is driven," Torkelson said.

"It is physically impossible to build a road so that people will be safe in spite of the careless, reckless or incompetent drivers who are responsible for at least 75 per cent of the accidents," he asserted.

"These people may not be criminals, but they kill ten times as many people as the criminals kill, and do physical harm to a hundred times as many."

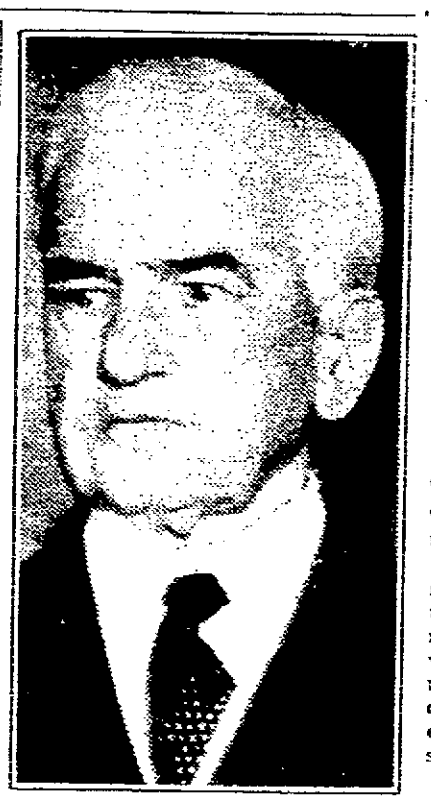

Torkelson said the fundamentals of highway design for safety are the same as the qualities necessary to make the road useful and attractive.

"We are neglecting our duty as citizens if we continue to urge expenditures for safe highways and at the same time fail to urge the enactment of proper laws for the control of the motor vehicle driver and to support thorough enforcement of these laws," he said.

Minnesota Halted in Defense of 'Sit-Downs'
Washington.—Representative Bernard, Minnesota Farmer-Laborer, attempted today to defend sit-down strikes in an address to the house, but was stopped almost as soon as he started.

Reverend arose for the announced intention of answering attacks on Representative Dies (D-Texas) and others on the sit-down strike. He was halted by Chairman McMillan (D-S. C.) of an appropriations subcommittee, on the parliamentary ground he was not confining his remarks to the appropriation bill before the house.

The swarthy Minnesotaan brought himself national attention in January, when he cast the only vote against a bill to bar munitions shipments to Spain.

DEFENDS PLAN

The only living former justice—John Hessin Clarke (above) of San Diego, Calif.—declared in a radio address last night that the Roosevelt court plan was "plainly within" congressional powers. He emphasized that he was considering in his speech only the question of constitutionality. (Associated Press Photo)

Renew Code Law But Add 'Teeth,' Is Vaughan Plea

Judiciary Committee Head
Indefinitely

Madison.—Chairman Byrde M. Vaughan of the assembly judiciary committee asked the legislature today to "put teeth" in the Wisconsin recovery code law and continue its operation indefinitely.

The present law, first enacted in 1933 at the time of NRA and revamped two years later, expires next July 25.

Vaughan introduced a bill embodying the recommendations of the present code administrators, Fred M. Wylie and Lawrence C. Whelan.

It provides that the power now given the governor to initiate and prescribe fair trade practice standards for industries and service trades be transferred to a commission of not more than three members appointed by the governor.

It sets up the commission as an administrative agency and creates a trade practice review board of not more than 11 representative citizens with power to uphold or reverse the commission's action.

It also requires that any disputed code be submitted to the board before it can be appealed to the courts.

New Provision
The cost of administering the law by levying assessments against members of coded industries would be continued, but the bill inserts a provision that no business subject to a code may operate unless its assessments are paid.

The administrators said they have been handicapped seriously because even pre-code members failed to meet their assessments.

The objectives of the new law are the same as the old: fixing of minimum wages and maximum working hours; prohibiting selling below cost and prevention of unfair trade practices.

"What the law first appeared to be called the Wisconsin recovery act and the trade agreements approved under it were called codes. It was enacted on a two-year emergency basis. In 1935 the term 'trade practice standard' was substituted for 'code' but the effect was the same."

Instead of another two-year enactment, Assemblyman Vaughan proposed that the law continue in "force until" a special board determines that employment and economic conditions no longer warrant regulation of business competition.

'Flying Duchess' Is Sought in England;
Feared Crash Victim
London.—Emergency workers in the fenslands turned from their struggle with a flood today to hunt for Britain's "flying duchess." The 71-year-old duchess of Bedford, in the fear she had crashed on some watery field.

It was believed she might have mistaken land covered with several feet of water for a smooth, dry landing place yesterday while flying solo from Woburn on what was intended as a short jaunt.

Airplanes roared off in the cold, clear dawn to comb the territory for a sign of the duchess' missing ship. A police resumed search of Monks woods, 13 miles from Peterborough where a gamekeeper said he saw a plane last night.

The duke of Bedford spent most of the night directing searches from his home. Friends said his fears for the safety of his wife, who made her first solo flight when she was 68, were mitigated by the duchess' knowledge of the country.

Sales Increase Noted by Power Company in 1936

More Industrial Sales
Due to Summer
Drought

Eleven-hour sales of electricity during 1936 in the area served by the Wisconsin Michigan Power Company were 56 per cent higher than sales in 1935, the company's yearly report shows. Other factors besides improved business conditions account for the gain, it was reported.

The most substantial increases were noted in commercial and industrial customer groups with a very substantial increase reported in industrial sales because of the summer drought. During this period the Fox river flow was so low that those industries having water power facilities operated them at a reduced output and the deficiency was made up by power supplied by the Wisconsin Michigan Power Company.

The rural extension program, which was started in September, 1935, as an experiment in a restricted area near Appleton, was continued last year and in January was extended over a wider Wisconsin system. Line extensions were the principal additions last year and resulted in a net increase of $294,425 in the property and plant account.

As a part of the company's rural extension program, 264 miles of primary line were built in 1935 and 943 customers were added in the Southern Wisconsin division. Of these new customers, 738 were served from the new lines and 205 were connected to previously existing lines. The newly built lines will provide service to 112 additional customers upon completion of wiring in their buildings.

Applications for service to 563 prospective rural customers were on hand at the close of 1936. During 1936 and thus far in 1937, approximately 100 miles of additional rural lines already have been built.

During 1936 and 1937, the company made a number of rate reductions affecting various classes of electric and gas service and it has been estimated that the reductions will provide savings of about $84,000 to electric customers and $21,000 to gas users.

Improvement of Streets Sought

Winnebago County Citizens File Petitions
With Legislature

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau) Madison—Citizens of the city of Oshkosh, in a petition to the legislature introduced by Assemblyman Leo T. Niemuth, (R.), have asked the body to direct the highway commission to construct the highway improvement of Oshkosh city streets in its 1937 state highway construction program.

Numerous other petitions from Winnebago county residents have been presented by Niemuth recently. Last week he filed a petition signed by 12 citizens of the county asking the proposed tax on property of inmates of county institutions.

Others from Winnebago county include a request from the county board for a county area test law for Bang's disease a request that the bovine tuberculosis law be amended to provide for a rest cure three years, the restoration to the county of the control of property of inmates of county institutions.

Assemblyman Niemuth's bill to allow counties to appropriate money for the attraction of industries will be acted upon by the assembly soon. Niemuth said that the bill proposed in Oshkosh which is anxious to attract new industries. The Winnebago and Oshkosh conservation group including prominent citizens in the Winnebago lake shore counties, is also backing the measure.

Hersekorn Sets Pace For Police Marksmen

Motorcycle Patrolman Gustave Hersekorn paced Appleton police marksmen at a pistol practice session Saturday at the city range. Hersekorn scored 73 out of a possible 100, shooting rapid fire at 500 yards targets on a 6-foot range. Traffic Sergeant Carl Radtke was second with 64 and Patrolman Alvin Inoué third with 63.

Board to Outline Work Program for City Parks

The work program in the city parks is expected to be outlined by members of the park board at its next meeting. Preparing the parks for summer season will start about April 1, according to Harold Jerke, park superintendent. Park trees now are to be sprayed to rid them of San Jose scale.

202 Garments are Made On WPA Sewing Project

Women on the WPA sewing project completed 202 garments in the last two weeks, according to Mrs. E. J. Dresely, supervising. About 25 women are employed on the project in Appleton and Kaukauna. Forty-nine pairs of shoes were repaired by the shoe repairmen employed under the project.

Months of Volunteer Labor Helped Make Gardenr Dam Scout Camp Outstanding

BY C. J. KLEIBER

The Valley Council Boy Scout camp at Gardenr dam, frequently characterized by national scout leaders as one of the finest camps in the United States, is the result of months of volunteer effort on the part of parents and leaders interested in the scout movement. Men from all sections of the council area helped transpose the 1,400-acre wooded site into what is now an ideal spot for scout vacations and activities.

The camp site with a circumference of 10 miles is located on the Wolf river near the Menominee Indian reservation and the Nicolet National forest in northern Wisconsin and is about 80 miles from Appleton.

Purchased in 1933 from the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company, the site heavily covered with timber, has been improved and now includes two housing units, a fresh water system, electric lights, suspension bridges, a swimming pool, mess halls, sleeping cabins, picnic grounds, an observation tower and playground areas.

Because the Wolf river flows through the entire camp area, two suspension bridges were built by Kaukauna residents to provide access to all parts of the camp. Now the main commissary, the scout executive's cabin and the caretaker's home are on the north side of the site with scout mess halls and cabins on the opposite slopes.

Thirty-two Boy Scout company employees, Kaukauna, built the bridges with the corporation and the Kaukauna Rotary club financing the project. Each bridge has its base on large boulders and with the addition of guard rails now provide perfect safety for crossing the river which only a few feet deep at the camp site.

The fifth annual camping season will first start in July but already 1,375 scouts have enjoyed vacation periods at the camp since 1933 while about 75 have taken advantage of winter activities during 5-day camping trips in the latter part of December each year.

Parents Do Work
Because scout's parents and other leaders donated their services to improve the camp site, little additional money was expended. Wood for cabins and other buildings was taken from the camp forest and scouts each summer clear the area of dead timber, chop it up and place it in piles for winter firewood.

Various organizations in Appleton, Kaukauna, Menasha, Neenah, Clintonville, Seymour and New London have provided money or materials for the camp.

A fund to build a memorial camp in honor of the late W. H. Miner, Menasha, has been established by this wife and the money will be used for seven new buildings, a year-around facilities and capable of housing 50 or 60 persons. Work on this winter camp will be started this spring and it is expected that all buildings will be available for the winter program this year.

Gateway Broken
Plans to replace the sectional log gateway which was broken this winter are being completed and the new construction will include a swinging gate and additional side wings. The original gateway was built during the first years of the camp.

Suggested improvements for this year include an enlarged swimming pool, power plant, pumping station, a new playground area, a winter and adult camp, a complete camp survey and a fish rearing pond. Original housing units built in 1933 were capable of accommodating 80 scouts but improvements have boosted the capacity to 96. Mess halls were constructed by scout leaders, employees of the Four Wheel Drive company, Clintonville, the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce and volunteer citizens from Appleton and Clintonville. Sleeping rooms on the south banks of the Wolf river were financed and built by scout leaders and citizens of Seymour, Appleton, New London and the New London Lions club.

Commissioners Hold Meetings
Scout commissioners each year hold several meetings at the camp and long treks through the woods are usually made. Surveyors of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company already have started the camp survey and it is planned to mark each mile section with red poles so that the scout will never lose their way in the forest.

Water for showers and use in kitchens is pumped by a hydraulic ram to a 3,000-gallon tank and then piped about 2,000 feet to the two camps. The system was installed by Art-Killgren Electric company employees, Appleton, with the aid of the local power company, Edison and Power company of Kaukauna.

A D.C. plant capable of lighting the entire camp area has been installed but actual operation of the system will not start until summer. Originally the camp buildings were lighted by Kohler plants which were secured with the property.

Plan Pool Improvements
Swimming, always an enjoyable sport for youths, is provided in a river pool built by the Menasha Wooden Ware corporation and Ban-ta Publishing company. Because the downstream sheeting for the pool is completely underwashed as a result of upstream improvements, enlargement of the pool is contemplated by leaders.

In order to strengthen the pool's upstream side a dam has been proposed which will provide sufficient flushing of the pool area and also permit flood waters to go over the top and thus prevent serious ice troubles and washouts which might result from a higher dam. The downstream face of the present pool is to be removed entirely and barrel floats will serve as the confining face on the northeast side.

Under this arrangement, the pool area will be doubled. Removal of some of the deadheads and rocks on the pool bottom is contemplated so that all hazards will be eliminated.

Opened In 1933
Purchased in 1933 the camp was opened for a 4-weeks period in the fall of that year with about 200 boys in attendance. In 1934 the camp was officially opened and in a 6-week period, 390 scouts were in attendance.

An increase of 100 boys was noted in 1935 when camping activities were held for eight weeks and in 1936 the attendance jumped to 475. Because the camp is used on week-end and vacation periods by scout troops and adults, it is estimated that 625 boys and men will use the camp this year.

When all improvements are completed, it is expected that each scout troop will go to Gardenr dam and operate its entire program in one of the units. The unit will ultimately involve purchasing of a cabin and each troop but the management of a troop program offers an opportunity for the development of capable leaders in each division.

11 Cities Represented
Cities represented each year at camp are Clintonville, Marion, Seymour, Shawano, Menasha, Neenah, Kaukauna, New London, Kaukauna, Appleton and Kimberly.

With conservation being a major activity for scouts, the camping program committee has planned a long time program which started this spring with the planting of 11,000 2-year Norway pine seedlings obtained from the Ottawa National forest. Winter failures will be cared for this spring when 2,000 seedlings obtained from the state will be placed in the ground.

In an effort to attract birds to the camp, a maple grove will be started on the right hand side of the roadway leading into camp. Erection of bird houses built by scouts, feeding stations and the planting of berry bushes and shrubs is planned this summer.

Plan Rearing Pond
A fish rearing pond is contemplated but will not be completed for some time as the conservation committee plans to intensify its work in the small streams and disregard the Wolf river for the present. Because there is an abundant supply of black bass, the planting of trout is planned in small streams.

Clearing of timber will be included in the trail project which has been added to the general survey program. The proposed trail will provide a well marked route through the entire camp area.

New buildings are needed before a winter and adult camp program can be completed and the committee has recommended that the winter camp area be developed north of the first suspension bridge and adjacent to the camp trading post building. The buildings will serve as an adult camp during other periods of the year and for camp supervisors and their families in summer.

Hold Winter Camps
Winter camp for Boy Scouts has been run for three consecutive winters and although attendance was limited due to inadequate all-year-around facilities, it is planned to continue the program to increase its scope only after new buildings have been erected.

Last year the camping committee secured a 15 KW Diesel engine, which has been placed under a canvas cover until a power plant is constructed. The cost of installing the engine and building a plant will be about $200.

Relocation of the water supply equipment has been recommended by leaders so that an adequate supply of running water is supplied to operate flushing toilets, septic tanks and a filter drainage system.

Change Hydraulic Ram
At present the hydraulic ram, which pumps water for sanitary use south of the river is located on the south side of the first suspension bridge. Because there is no permanent foundation, it is necessary to dismantle the equipment and move it to shelter each fall. The camping committee suggests that the equipment be moved to the north side of the river at a point just downstream from the suspension bridge.

It is proposed to take the water from a small channel near the large sluiceway.

Damage by Corn Borer Reduced in State Campaign

Pest Now Confined to 16
Farms in Five Wisconsin Counties

Wisconsin is winning its long battle against the European corn borer which invaded eastern lakeshore counties in 1931, a department of agriculture report received by R. C. Swanson, county agent, indicates.

The extent of the defeat of this crop destroyer is shown by the fact, at this spring it will be necessary for the state to carry its campaign against the corn borer to only 16 farms in five counties, according to E. L. Chambers, state entomologist. Two years ago corn borer infestations were found in 133 fields in 12 counties.

Cleanup activities this spring will be confined to Ozaukee, Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Kewaunee, and Door counties where infestations were discovered last year during extensive surveys made by the department of agriculture and markets.

Although more than $3,000 from an emergency fund of $5,000 was used by the state last year to pay the costs of the corn borer control campaign, only $208 will be required this year to cover such costs, Chambers stated.

The 16 farmers whose fields are to be cleaned up this year will receive notices this week that they will be required to bury or burn all stubble or stalks in which the borer might have passed the winter. They will be compensated at the rate of two dollars an acre for expenses incurred in doing the work.

The corn borer was discovered in Wisconsin in Manitowoc and Sheboygan counties in 1931, and a campaign for its suppression was undertaken in those regions at that time. Subsequently, campaigns have been conducted in virtually all counties bordering Lake Michigan.

Build Warehouse at Riverside Paper Mill

Work is progressing on a $5,000 addition to the Riverside Paper mill. The addition, which will be used as a raw material warehouse, will bridge a gap between two buildings and will be of concrete, brick and steel construction. The work is being done by the C. R. Meyer and Sons Construction company and will be completed about May 1.

island, run it through proper screens and into a line buried for part of the distance to the ram which would be located on a concrete foundation and adequately protected by a pump house.

Improvements planned for the camp are to be completed as part of a long time program which is intended to transpose the site into a winter and summer camping grounds to be used by all scouts and adults connected with Valley Council.

Camping Committee Members
The 1936 general camping committee has been reappointed and includes Mowry Smith, John Kimbrey and William Wright, Neenah, E. J. Kilien, H. G. Boon, Dr. Victor F. Marshall, C. R. Seaborn, Alfred S. Bradford, A. G. Wakeman, R. K. Wolter and Fred C. Heintz, Appleton, and Hugh L. Gear, Menasha. Members of the general camping committee are C. R. Seaborn, chairman, N. de C. Walker, J. S. Wells, Carl E. Schaefer and J. H. Dunkan, Appleton, Joseph McCarthy, Kaukauna, and Zerkow, Clintonville. Hugo L. Gear, Menasha, is chairman of the week-end camping committee which includes Dr. Carl Runge, Seymour, and Albert Weber, Shawano.

Strikes Attract Public Attention To Labor Problems

Sit-Down Method Has Advertised Bargaining and Collateral Questions

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Many people are working themselves into a frenzy of excitement over the "sit-down" strikes, judging by the letters being received here, and, at the risk of being misunderstood, the statement might be made that it is an all-time high which blows no good.

No major controversy which has stirred the passions of our country has been all one-sided. The "sit-down" strike is an all-legal weapon, and yet it has served to advertise collective bargaining and collateral questions more than any other circumstance of our times.

One of the principal reasons why labor warfare has been going on for generations in America without any significant progress is that the disputes have been really examined only by a relatively small number of persons, and even when a strike in a particular industry has been called the issues usually have been so technical as to deprive the general public of any acute interest in the merits of the conflict.

Today the "sit-down" strike is admittedly an extreme measure, but it may also be recognized that men who do not go to extremes in such large numbers unless one of two things is present: either men are docile and easily forced by leaders and agitators into acts of illegality, or there is something substantial and primary about their craving for betterment which has been too much ignored.

Public Plays Part
It is an old rule in labor warfare that, once the public—the party of the third part—really gets interested in a strike, the ending of such a strike in short order may be foreseen.

Thus, with reference to the "sit-down" strikes, the public is deeply interested and will demand a solution. Because the public is human, no progress toward bringing employers and employees together can be made till all employers recognize that workers are human and until workers recognize that all employers have a responsibility to pay wages to the workers they employ.

If these basic principles are granted, a start can be made. Many employers today allow their passions and their tempers to get the best of them. They regard a union organizer as a nuisance, and a spokesman for their employees as an upstart. If he speaks emphatically, firmly, insistently. Often the tone of the employee representative is as arrogant as the defiant attitude of the employer. The theory that, because a man owns a plant, he can do as he pleases under his own roof and that workers can be regarded as somehow being granted a favor when they are granted a job is somewhat obsolete, but nevertheless it dominates the thinking of many an employer.

Workers Have Right

Workers have a right to talk to employers through spokesmen of their own choosing. This has always been conceded as an ethical right, but not always a legal right. Fifteen years ago, this correspondent argued with a railroad president that workmen had a right to employ a spokesman from the ranks of labor outside the plant just as an employer had a right to hire an attorney to represent him in negotiating with a union.

Today, collective bargaining is a part of statutory law. The supreme court may rule the Wagner act unconstitutional because its provisions are poorly drawn and capriciously applied, but it never will deny the right of any workman or group of workmen to be represented by a spokesman of his or their own choosing. This comes so close to being an inherent right of agency that it is surprising anybody would wish to deny it when incorporated in the statutes.

But collective bargaining is still a phrase and not a practice. How shall representatives of the workmen be chosen? Shall coercion be permitted whereby employers prevent workmen from picking their own agents and shall coercion be allowed wherein workmen intimidate their fellow employees unless they vote for the same spokesman? This is a fundamental question of how labor shall govern itself.

The state today declares how stockholders shall be governed. The charter and by-laws of corporations specify the means of holding elections and allow certain redress in courts if rights are in any way impaired. The state can safeguard the rights of the individual citizen with respect to the selection of his agents for negotiation of matter of wages and hours.

There may be reasons why labor unions would object to the acceptance of the status of corporations, but there can be no valid reason why they should object to the setting up of impartial tribunals of federal and state governments to insure the holding of free and uncoerced elections.

Need Equal Privileges

But how, it will be asked, does this dispose of the all-important question of the "closed shop," or the demand by a majority of the employees that they become the exclusive or sole bargaining agency? Any demand which seeks a monopoly for one organization as against another and any system which grants it defeats the purpose of a democratic choice of agents for workmen. The existence of two sets or even three sets of spokesmen in any plant is not detrimental but helpful to the employees, but it has to be accompanied by a law against discrimination such as business must obey. A law which states that no employer can discriminate as between two or three sets of spokesmen of employees. In other words, laws can be written which insist that whenever an employer in any given business, or in any plant unit or locality, grants to one group of spokesmen any advantages in wages or hours for the benefit of their constituents members the same concessions must be granted to any other workmen's representatives for their constituents who are doing the same work in the same area.

This is nothing but the principle of non-discrimination and fair play and it is written into the statutes in distribution businesses today. If it were applied to collective bargaining negotiations, the need for exclusive representation would disappear.

But the most imperative need is a statute which makes it unlawful for any spokesman of labor to conspire to persuade members to terminate a contract without first submitting the issues in dispute to a tribunal organized in advance to receive and resolve such disputes within a definite time limit. The right to strike has been limited in England and it has been limited in the United States, as, for instance, in the Railroad Mediation act. What it amounts to is an agreement not to hold a gun at an employer's head to stop service or work without first submitting the dispute to an agreed-upon tribunal.

The right to strike is in reality not impaired, for, if the issues are not settled satisfactorily after the tribunal has duly considered them, the workmen may cease to work. But what is impaired and ought to be is the so-called right to conspire with other workmen to apply a monopolistic power to suspend production or distribution and to inflict economic losses without due notice of the intention to use the strike weapon.

While General Motors, for instance, has signed a contract and the labor leaders have testified that the contract has been maintained, lots of small "sit-down" strikes have been started in the General Motors plants just the same. It is true they are "unauthorized" and labor leaders deplore them, but no penalty is incurred by those who arbitrarily use the strike weapon in defiance of contracts.

Some way to insure employers against sudden extortion has to be devised, and only in the statutes can such safeguards be written, especially as the law moves certainly to assure recognition of labor unions and the right of laboring men to join with each other to select spokesmen to bargain for them without employer influence of any kind. Unless employers are protected, too, from arbitrary action and union activity during business hours and various forms of coercion of workmen by fellow employees, little headway can be made.

But there are ways to dismiss the area of labor warfare and to advance the cause of industrial justice, ways that require reason instead of passion and mostly the impartial exercise by government bodies of legal power as umpires and mediators rather than as partisans. Fear of political reprisals of labor groups has caused state and federal legislators to write one-sided laws, and that's really the basic cause of present-day unrest. The public group of voters, by non-partisan action, can remove the fear of minority pressure groups. When government becomes objective, capital and labor will be compelled to participate in the only form of "sit-down" that's worthwhile where common sense and interdependence alone are given exclusive recognition.

Three Candidates For Court Position Point to Records

Martin, Turner and Wylie Speak at Madison Gathering

Madison—(P)—The three candidates for the state supreme court pointed to their records as evidence of their liberalism in talks before the University of Wisconsin Progressive club last night.

Justice Joseph Martin, Green Bay, and his two rivals, Glenn Turner, Madison, and Fred M. Wylie, Madison, urged an interpretation of the constitution in keeping with changing conditions.

As far as his background is concerned, I belong with the liberals," said Justice Martin, who was appointed to the high court by Governor A. G. Schmedeman.

He inferred he approves President Roosevelt's plan for reorganization of the federal courts.

"There is a needed attempt to reorganize the whole federal structure of courts," he said. "It is no duty of the courts to be legislative bodies."

Turner for Change

Martin said the best way to keep politics out of the judiciary was for judges to keep out of politics. For that reason, he said, he could not give his opinion of President Roosevelt's plan.

Turner emphatically endorsed the proposed court changes, declaring that reactionaries pretend the courts are guardians of liberty, but in reality the courts have been stealing from the people their greatest liberty—the liberty to protect their interests by use of the ballot.

The judicial veto, and even more the fear of the judicial veto, has clipped the ballot, which is the cornerstone of American liberty until the whole structure of liberty is in danger," Turner said.

Wylie reviewed his record as a Progressive attorney and recalled the "many liberal laws" he drafted. He said a voter should not depend upon what a man promised or what he did in preparation for a campaign, but should consider his entire background.

In a brief reference to the United States Supreme court, Wylie declared the judges often avoided a "reasonable" interpretation of the laws to vote according to their economic beliefs.

Plan Orthopedic Clinic for City

County Medical Society, State are Joint Sponsors of Service

An orthopedic clinic for crippled children will be held here April 17 under the joint auspices of the Outagamie County Medical society and the state department of public instruction. It was announced today.

The medical society is extending an invitation to two orthopedicists to conduct the examinations on that day. This orthopedic field clinic will provide consultation service not only for children of Appleton and Outagamie county but also for children of surrounding counties if children at attendance is recommended by their family physician.

Miss Lois Mitchell, a field worker representing the crippled children division, will be in Appleton and surrounding territory during the next few weeks making preparations for the clinic.

Assembly Refuses To Act on Plan to Ban 'Bank Nights'

Madison—(P)—Assemblyman Martin Frankowski (D), Milwaukee, foe of pinball games, women bartenders, and theater bank night drawings, took it to the chin in the house again today when that body killed his bill to declare bank nights illegal.

The vote was 69 to 16 for indefinite postponement. A few days ago the assembly by a similar margin rejected Frankowski's bill to drive the popular pinball machines out of hotel lobbies, restaurants and taverns.

His opponents claim there are enough laws on the statute books now if local officials want to enforce them.

Frankowski's bills prohibiting the employment of women in taverns are still pending.

Report Increase In Placements In Private Jobs

Report Indicates More Opportunities Now Exist

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—Indicating an increase in opportunities for private employment in Wisconsin, the combined state and national employment services placed 88 per cent more persons in private industry in February than they did in January. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins reports.

Simultaneously, the number placed in public employment decreased 25.6 per cent.

The total number placed in private jobs during the month, 4,140, was far greater than the combined total of those placed in public jobs, 1,632, and the number assigned to works relief projects, 291.

At the same time, the number of new applications, 9,300, was 22.3 per cent smaller than the number of new applications in January.

Veterans placed in private jobs totaled 173 in February, an increase of 16.1 per cent, while those placed in public jobs was 210, a decrease of 4.1 per cent. In addition, 41 were assigned to work relief projects. New applicants among the veterans totaled 323, a drop of 26.6 per cent during the month.

The increases were nation-wide, and Secretary Perkins explained: "Improved business conditions have enlarged opportunities for employment; the intense efforts of employment offices in contacting employers have resulted in striking increases in verified placements."

British Actor's Body Is Washed Up From Channel

London—(P)—Dr. Percy Vosper today definitely identified the nude body of a man washed up from the English channel near Beach head as that of Frank Vosper, his actor son who had been mysteriously missing since he disappeared from a gay champagne party at sea March 6.

Police previously reported a tentative identification by other relatives of the prominent playwright and English stage star. Vosper disappeared from the cabin of Miss Muriel Oxford, British beauty queen, where a farewell party was being given aboard the liner Paris as it neared Plymouth after a trans-Atlantic crossing from New York.

Man Held in Slaying Admits Another Plot

Lewiston, Me.—(P)—Sheriff Joseph Wheeler said James Pace, 28-year-old riverman held for the poisoned panake slaying of his brother, William, Jr., told him today that he plotted against the lives of another brother and the latter's 2-year-old son.

The motive, Sheriff Wheeler said, Pace told him, was love of Lillian Pace, 17, wife of Paces brother, Charles. The latter, and his baby son, were killed by the poisoned food, the sheriff said.

William, 32, died Sunday after eating breakfast in a houseboat on the Illinois river, near Liverpool, where the family lived.

Two Sentenced for Manitowoc Robberies

Manitowoc—(P)—Municipal Judge O. T. Bredesen yesterday sentenced Harry Wroble, 20, and Adolph Bonk, 25, both of Manitowoc, on charges of robbing the Mikadow "cigar" store, December 2, and the South Side Hardware store in January.

Wroble was sentenced to the state reformatory for one to three years and Bonk to state prison for a similar term.

Police said the pair confessed after weeks of investigation. Six hundred dollars was obtained in the theater, police said.

Water Conservation to Be Studied at Meeting

Mayor Goodland has been invited to attend the thirty-second annual convention of National Rivers and Harbors congress in Washington, D. C., on April 25 and 27 by Jack Nichols, vice president. A program for the conservation of water, control and use of waterways will be outlined at the meeting.

CCC Enrolment to Be Made in April

Few Applications From Outagamie County Made Thus Far

Few applications for the next enrolment in CCC camp for April, according to Miss Madlyn Newell, certification officer. Applications are being received at the old post office building.

In the past it was necessary for a former camp member to have served four months in the former enrolment in order to be eligible to reenter camp. This restriction has been removed and any youth who has received honorable discharge is eligible for reenrolment providing a year has elapsed since previous enrolment.

Brian Fitzgerald, Ft. Lewis, Washington, of the district educational office states that it is becoming increasingly evident that employers are looking with more favor every day toward the CCC as a source from which to draw reliable employees.

They feel, he said, that those discharged from the CCC with a good record of service and recommended by their camp commander have already proved themselves to be dependable men, and that they are far better risk than young untrained boys out of school who have never been through the mill.

Propose to Increase Power of Governor

Lansing, Mich.—(P)—An attempt to give Governor Frank Murphy civil service privileges under proposed maneuvers in the state legislature today.

Representatives Ralph Rowell and Laverne Hatch, members of the administration Democratic party, introduced a bill to give the governor power to require new examinations for posts already filled under civil service.

The bill, which apparently enjoyed small chance of adoption, would make Governor Murphy virtual dictator over state jobs despite a civil service law. A bill for the latter, requiring department heads to employ applicants standing highest in competitive examinations, has been approved by the senate.

The senate last night approved, without a dissenting vote, a bill to repeal the law requiring a voter to disclose his party choice in primary elections. Opposition to the bill was expected in the house.

Sponsors of a bill to provide the death penalty for murders pressed the house judiciary committee to report out the measure within a week.

Membership Increase Noted at Y. M. C. A.

An increase of 22 members was reported at the Y. M. C. A. during February, according to Homer L. Gebhardt, general secretary. Membership now totals 1,193 compared to 1,173 at the close of January and 1,133 in December, 1936.

The report indicates sustaining memberships 97, mens 373, boys 340, women 102, girls 204. Increases during the month were noted in the men's and boys' departments with a decrease of one in the girls' classes.

Mr. Gebhardt also reported on the inter-convention contests with Green Bay, the 1-day convention at Racine, Girl Scouts training course at the "Y," homebuilders party, insurance men's meeting and the ministerial association meeting.

Committee Approves Agricultural Bill

Washington—(P)—The senate agriculture committee sent the administration crop insurance bill to the floor today with a favorable report. The bill calls for a $100,000,000 federal corporation to insure wheat crops against weather, insect, and disease hazards beginning in 1938. Senator Pope (D-Ida.) chairman of the committee, said the program could be extended to other crops if experimental operation proves successful.

By collecting premiums and paying indemnities primarily in grain, the corporation would build up a reserve of 25,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels, taking wheat off the market in bumper years and releasing it in lean years.

Chairman Pope (D-Ida.) of the subcommittee which held hearings on the bill said an amendment, forbidding the corporation to dispose of grain except for indemnities or to avoid deterioration, would prevent any depression of wheat prices through fear of dumping of reserve stocks.

Chrysler, Lewis Asked to Confer On Auto Strike

which refused a permit to the union yesterday, approved the plans. The union's estimate of the number expected at the meeting ranged from 60,000 to 200,000. The avowed purpose was to "defend the right to strike" by protesting police evictions of sit-down strikers in small non-automotive plants.

While the union deferred its threatened call of a city-wide automotive strike as a more formidable protest against these evictions, city officials announced there would be no further interference with "peaceful" strikers. Several raids, two yesterday, avowedly were based upon information that non-employees were among the strikers.

LEWIS ACCEPTS

Washington—(P)—John L. Lewis formally accepted today the invitation of Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan to confer with Walter P. Chrysler tomorrow in the governor's office in Lansing, Mich. about the Chrysler motor company sit-down strike.

Lewis dispatched the following telegram to Murphy: "Your message suggests that I confer under duress. Nevertheless, and notwithstanding, I agree to be present."

IN SCHAFKOPF TOURNEY

Werner Koletzke with 170 points won first place in the fourth annual Northeastern Schafkopf tournament sponsored by the Harvey Pierre post No. 2776, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Sunday at the Eagles hall. The post is laying plans for holding a state-wide tournament in Appleton next year.

Louis Heger, Winnebago, won second place in the tournament Sunday: Joseph Hackstock, Menasha, third; Louis Schroeder, route 1, Chiklen, fourth; Kenneth Scholl, Appleton, fifth; Walter Huelbeck, route 1, Menasha, sixth; John Wagner, route 1, Hilbert, seventh; Mrs. August Haferbecker, Appleton, eighth; and A. W. Lipske, Menasha, ninth.

Delegates From Indian Groups Confer With U. S.

Learn That Loan Has Been Approved for One Badger Tribe

Washington—(P)—Delegates of the Great Lakes Indian agency learned today a federal loan of $16,500 has been approved for the Red Cliff reservation band at Bayfield, Wis., the only Wisconsin band that has been given a charter under the 1934 Indian reorganization act.

Word of the loan, from which individual tribal members will benefit in their occupations of fishing, farming, and fuel wood cutting, came to the group as it conferred with Indian bureau officials here about ways and means of incorporating eight other Wisconsin and Michigan tribes.

The tribal delegates, accompanied by J. C. Cavill, great lakes agency supervisor at Ashland, Wis., sought information and guidance from the Indian bureau of what has to be done to incorporate the various bands before obtaining charters. The charters will entitle them to buy land and receive credit from the federal government.

Cavill said upon arrival of charters by the Indian bureau the bands expect to purchase additional lands in both Wisconsin and Michigan. All but one of the bands represented by the conference have adopted constitutions and are ready to ask governmental approval of their charters preliminary to incorporation.

List Reservations

Delegates at the meeting were: Red River reservation, Odanah, Wis., Frank A. Smart and William Goslin, tribal council members; Lac Courte Oreilles reservation, Revere, Wis., which has not adopted a constitution, Frank Setter and John Kingfisher; Lac du Flambeau reservation, Lac du Flambeau, Wis., George W. Brown and Thomas L. St. Germaine, president and member respectively of tribal council; L'Anse reservation, L'Anse, Mich., John Thomas and Charles Cardinal, secretary and member respectively of tribal council; Red Cliff reservation, Bayfield, Wis., Mike J. Coe, treasurer of tribal council; Bay Mills Mission reserve, Brimley, Mich., Herman E. Cameron, executive council chairman; Wisconsin Potawatomi, Grandon, Wis., Henry Ritchie, business committee member; Wisconsin Potawatomi, Harrison-Wilson, Mich., Frank Eh, council chairman; St. Croix band, Shell Lake, Wis., John Lonestart, business committee chairman.

The delegates said they represented about 10,000 Indians.

Milwaukee Measure Is Killed in Upper House

Madison—(P)—The senate killed today a bill by Sen. George Hampel, (P), Milwaukee, which would have taken from the Milwaukee council the power to reject or confirm appointments to the fire and police commission.

Senator Hampel, following a decisive vote on the measure, received permission to table three other bills designed to restore party elections in Milwaukee and make minor changes in election regulations.

The senate committee on state and local government had recommended disapproval of the bills. Hampel's motion to table will permit later consideration of the non-partisan bill.

COOPERATION URGED IN STATE SAFETY PROGRAM

Madison—(P)—Officials of the public service commission said today they have asked Wisconsin manufacturers and distributors of gas to cooperate in a safety program.

Data furnished by gas utilities, the commission said, would be used in drafting legislation designed to reduce dangers of explosion and asphyxiation.

The commission asked the utilities to make detailed reports on major gas leaks that have occurred in Wisconsin. The questionnaires were distributed before the school blast at New London, Texas.

spite minor flaws, has proved to be the truest and best avenue to the achievement of desirable ends.

"In view this proposal not so much with alarm as with a deep regret that after a period of many years during which progressive ideas have been taking shape and have been moving toward the achievement of somewhat fundamental changes in our economic system, a proposal has been injected into the situation which is not only wholly inadequate to meet the present situation, but is so destructive of the institutional continuity of this republic that it may obstruct progressive development in the future as well."

Talks With Wheeler

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), one of the few members of the judiciary committee still uncommitted on the administration bill, conferred with Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) and other opponents on the possibility of union behind a specific amendment.

Senator Bailey (D-N. C.) took exception to the opinion given by Wheeler yesterday that the Democratic dissenters could agree quickly.

He said he would oppose amendments such as suggested by Wheeler and O'Mahoney, which he believes "tend to curb the court or interfere with its functions."

Wheeler's amendment would empower congress to override a supreme court decision by a two-thirds vote. O'Mahoney's would require a two-thirds vote by the court to invalidate a law.

The Wheeler proposal, in which Senator Bone (D-Wash.) concurred, is patterned after the "Madison amendment" originally considered during the convention which framed the constitution.

It provides for ratification by state legislatures, and would permit congress to reenact an invalidated law only after a congressional election intervened.

The two westerners got together as a result of a suggestion by Senator Pittman (D-Nev.), who favors the Roosevelt bill. He indicated they could count on his help in committee if the amendment advocates would compromise among themselves.

Sensors Burke (D-Neb.) and King (D-Utah) insisted the bill which they oppose, be disposed of before amendments could be seriously considered.

Fairview 4-H Group To Admit New Members

The Fairview 4-H club, Black Creek, will admit new members at a meeting at the Edward Kluge home, March 30.

At a recent club session, Vera Sassman, Wilbur Sigl and Milo Rottler were selected to arrange an all-year plan for 1937 and Lora Kluge, Merim Wolf and Wilbur Sigl were appointed to the dramatic committee. Mabel Kluge was named club historian; Florence Rottler, club librarian, and Mildred Ruwold and Lora Kluge, sick-benefit committee members.

OUR MODERN AGE

By LEO J. MURPHY, D.C.

American's Pay Tribute

In the days of the Roman Empire, people of the entire civilized world paid heavy tribute to the ruling emperor.

Tribute of a more costly, more deadly form is exacted today by the criminal element in all parts of the world.

Thousands of American lives and billions of American dollars are forfeited each year to one of a half a million arch-criminals. Honest prosecution and restricted immigration can free America from this scourge.

Why not free yourself from the scourge of sickness and disease? You can do this by means of the modern chiropractic health service rendered by Leo J. Murphy, of 231 Insurance Bldg. He has helped so many others and can surely help you too, if given the chance. Why not consult him today?

Urges Farmers To Take Part in Herd Improvement

Says Badgers Should be in Fore of Great National Movement

Oshkosh—J. F. Kendrick of the federal department of agriculture urged Wisconsin dairymen today to take a "prominent part in this great national program" of the Dairy Herd Improvement association.

A member of the division of dairy herd improvement investigations, bureau of dairy industry, Kendrick spoke at the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Dairymen's association.

"There is nothing superhuman about the successful breeder," Kendrick said. "He has either had extensive production records on his dairy cattle to guide him in his breeding program or he has been just plain lucky."

Common Sense
All a breeder needs to be successful, he said, is to have common sense and plenty of records on which to base his judgment.

"Proved-sire records take much of the guesswork out of a breeding program. Pedigrees are promises, but records are a fulfillment of those promises."

Kendrick said mass testing of milk producing cattle was needed to obtain proved-sire data on larger numbers of dairy sires. There are enough dairy cattle now on test, he said, to serve as a nation-wide breeding herd to supply improved breeding stock to the national dairy herd of 25,000,000 cows.

Plan Carefully
"By carefully planning a breeding program for every DHIA there should be within relatively few years, enough sires on which proved-sire data are available so that every dairyman in the country would have access in his own community to a dairy sire known to have the ability to raise production in a high-producing herd."

Kendrick said the entire program of the association now is available to every dairyman who belongs to a dairy herd improvement association, and that all a dairyman need do to take full advantage of it is to belong to the association and test his herd continuously.

Mr. Pegler Has a Look At Those 'Bad Notes'

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington—The Americans were known as the most enthusiastic soldiers of the great war, and a great aggregate tonnage of shell cases, tin hats, enemy pants buttons, iron crosses, spike helmets and all such brave, pathetic junk still clutters the attics of the veterans everywhere. There is scarcely a village green or court house lawn but has its captured field piece, machine gun or mine.

But of all the purely sentimental relics which this country derived from the war for democracy there is none so interesting as a rather compact batch of documents reposing in a strong room on the ground floor of the treasury building on the Pennsylvania avenue side. These are the I.O.U.'s, the bonds given by the late gallant allies of the U.S.A. in return for the billions of dollars of loans and sales which saw them through the contest and the reconstruction.

The bill is approximately $12,000,000,000 and generally recognized as a bad debt by now; so the bonds have somewhat the same character as those soap wrapper marks which the Germans printed by the billion in the days when they were going through the wringer of bankruptcy. If this country were to take a bath, as the saying goes, and its assets were set down on paper for the information of the creditors, those bonds would be put in as of little or no more importance, because if a like situation ever should arise again it would be to the point to take them out of their envelopes, photograph them and print the pictures in the papers.

Being of a literal and perhaps morbid mind, your correspondent often wished to see and touch the actual physical evidence of the debt, and last week, thanks to the cooperation of Mr. Herbert Gaston, of the treasury department, it was possible to do so. Mr. Gaston called up some numbers in the building, and five minutes later your correspondent was escorted into a secluded room and up to the door of a vault known as the security room. There was a shutter in the door, like the eye of an old-time speakeasy, and when the shutter opened and a man squinted out your correspondent was about to say, "It's all right. We are friends of Eddie."

And So We Get to See the First Exhibit
Instead, however, the guide gave the office and we entered, the door being closed behind us. Not suspiciously, perhaps, but carefully, nevertheless, the door was closed and Mr. Bradley Proctor, who has charge of the souvenirs, got out some large manila filing envelopes and produced first, a number of attractive single-page French bonds with a flame-colored bank note border.

They called for varying amounts, an apparently staggered schedule of dates running deep into the future, and Mr. Proctor handed over one for $83,004,207.80, dated check and inventory on their stock in the security room even though the billions are only funny money. Millions, billions of dollars, and not a dollar's worth in the entire lot.

And so the great war debt on close inspection ceased to be a huge but valuable force and assumed the same vulgar character that millions of American investors discovered to their tragic surprise in the promises of shattered companies and the Insull empire.

Then there was a great blanket contract with Italy," couched in Italian and signed boldly, "B. Mussolini."

He, too, promised to pay, pledging Italy's sacred honor, but there came more urgent demands on Italy's honor in the defensive war against Abyssinia and B. Mussolini defaulted, too.

So there they rest in manila folders in the vault. Souvenirs of the great war.

Plan to Observe 300th Birthday at Marquette

Milwaukee—Plans were under way at Marquette university today for an observance of the three-hundredth birthday anniversary, June 1, of Father Jacques Marquette, Jesuit missionary and explorer.

The Rev. Raphael C. McCarthy, S. J., president of the university, said that since the institution was Marquette memorial "it is only fit."

Then there was a British bond, a large folder with a blue border and gone in beautiful script, amount $4,600,060,000 maturing Dec. 15, 1964.

Some Payments Noted, But Now They've Stopped
"The government of Great Britain, hereinafter called Great Britain, for value received, promises to pay to the United States of America, hereinafter called the United States," it began. Payments had been made on this one and noted in ink in a space provided on page three, but no payments were being received any more. These were samples of the entire collection, picked at random from among the souvenirs. And, though they were very polite and patient, the keepers of the morgue were also prompt to reach for them and put them back in the folders. Dealing in sums of billions, they keep a very strict

Native Wisconsin Trees

Conservation Commission Tells How to Identify Them, Discusses Their Value to State

COFFEE TREE

This tree, also called Kentucky Coffee Tree, is comparatively rare, but has been found as far north as Winnebago county. It prefers moist fertile soils, and may attain a height of 100 feet and a diameter of 2 to 3 feet.

The leaves are alternate, 1 to 3 feet in length and doubly compound. With such large leaves the tree naturally is without fine twigs, and the branchlets are heavy and blunt with large pith. The small flowers grow in clusters with male and female flowers on different trees.

The fruit is a pod, for this tree and the two following belong to the pea family (legumes). These pods measure from 4 to 10 inches in length and remain closed during the winter. The seeds are half an inch or more in diameter and are separated by a thick layer of sweet pulp. They have a waterproof coating so that before planting, boiling water is poured over them, after which they are left to soak for a day. The wood is heavy, strong, coarse grained, light red-brown in color and very durable in contact with the soil. It is occasionally used for cabinet work and for posts and general construction.

PEGLER GOES ON THE BENCH

Last week Mr. Pegler, erstwhile columnist, broke into the new supreme court building at Washington, took off his hat, grabbed a gown, sat on the seat of the chief justice, and took up a consideration of some constitutional questions.

Now, Mr. Pegler is breezy and intelligent with a devil-may-care attitude toward all institutions, the more sanctimonious the more devil, which is a way, we think, to have at least some column in the Post-Crescent, but as a justice of the supreme court our estimable Mr. Pegler is what they call in New York a Bowery flop.

Happily the question decided by Mr. Pegler does not bring one of the more critical present-day clashes before the court. It involved merely the right of the United States to place an income tax on the money paid any person as wages by a state government. It might also be said to involve logically the right of a state government to place an income tax on the salary of a federal official.

Mr. Pegler decided the question like an auctioneer who had received a hot bid and wanted to grab it before it was withdrawn. It didn't take him a split second. He announced there was nothing in the constitution of the United States to interfere with the tax. He brought to the solution of the question much more native ability we think than most of the tin-horn jurists who are telling how litigation should be decided and the constitution construed, but even so it is perilous to decide constitutional questions like you pick a nag at a horse race.

It might interest the whilom justice of the supreme court to know that in generations gone before NRA and Mr. Lewis and WPA and AAA cluttered up the steps of the capitol and in the calm deliberation of days when Old Pet was tied out to a post in front of the capitol and kicked and swished at flies, a great array of the best intellects of the country considered the same proposition, and brought learned decisions out of that deep well from which artesian water, clear and cool, constantly flows and in which Mr. Lincoln found the decision that the South could not secede even if the constitution didn't prohibit it.

The supreme court is merely upholding the independence of the state and the nation and insuring that independence except where the constitution specifically says otherwise. A case that comes to mind will show two points. It involves Louisiana and Huey Long and a situation with which Mr. Pegler has shown his complete familiarity before he went on the bench. Were it not for such a decision what would there be to prevent a man placed like Huey Long putting a tax of 65 per cent or more on the income of any federal official in Louisiana? And would Mr. Long have done it during those days when he was nicking the enamel on his teeth snapping his jaws at Washington? We will leave that answer to Mr. Pegler. Without the decision mentioned any state could nullify federal authority within its borders. Without the decision mentioned the federal government could at any time see fit to paralyze every state or blacken its name into head-on defiance just as the recent congress has already blackballed every state into paying its own kind of unemployment insurance or accepting as an alternative the turning in of specified taxes to the national government simply for the general treasury.

We hope Mr. Pegler had a good time on the supreme bench. We know he brought his very best to bear upon the question he selected to consider. But a bench of Peglers, instead of maintaining the clarity of authority that is so essential in the naturally confused affairs of 130 million people, would in short order catch its heels behind its ears and substitute rolling down the street for the ordinary and casual promenade.

JUSTICE McREYNOLDS PROTESTS

Justice McReynolds of the United States supreme court in an address before his college fraternity chided critics of the supreme court by stating that good sportsmanship requires that a man who has had a chance to present a case before a fair tribunal must be a good sport and accept the outcome simply because there are zones of reasoning in which no two persons will think exactly alike.

The Justice may be entirely right in what he said but the impropriety of his saying it is manifest. He is the only member of the supreme court whom we ever noticed making any sort of a reply to criticism.

We think the tradition that has grown up for a judge to suffer in silence in circumstances of this kind is a good tradition. It does not necessarily apply where judges must run for election because at election time, if they are attacked, they certainly have a right to explain or justify.

It is a difficult position, of course, for any man to be in when his conscience tells him that he has been painstakingly just and he is subjected to criticism by someone whom he knows does not understand the facts or may be motivated by personal or ulterior purposes. Nevertheless, jurists have followed this course throughout the generations and such course has generally received the strong approval of the people as is evidenced by the unquestioned support which the public has given the courts irrespective of the confused turmoil critics may sometimes arouse.

ONE VIEW OF THE "CRISIS"

The Secretary of Agriculture publicly confirmed Mr. Lippmann's diagnosis of the real or imaginary Roosevelt crisis that brought about the President's demand to take over some of the powers of the supreme court.

The New Dealers are becoming frightened at the clouds appearing on the horizon. They fear the tornado of inflation is under way. And so far they have neither the disposition nor the valor to even use the powers already in their hands to put on the brakes.

Secretary Wallace observed that the government has power to influence what he called "the wide swings of the business cycle" but added, "I think very definitely that the government does not have sufficient power now" to effectively mitigate such swings.

Can it be that our highly intellectual planners who have been so constantly drumming into our ears that "We planned it that way" didn't plan what they would do when the inflation came? When you cheapen the gold content of your dollar 40 per cent, and prosperity, long in hiding, comes out as everything must in time, you have two elements that make for inflation, and yet may be well controlled. But when you add to the foregoing the dilution of your currency by pouring in tons of silver at $1.29 an ounce that was worth less than half that amount, and make billions of new money to pay billions of extravagances, and create bond issues, that is debts, as the security for the money issued, you are really laying the lash onto some pretty mettlesome steeds, and oldsters may remember that when three-year-olds got the bits in their teeth and started down the road with the buckboard loaded with milk cans there was likely to be a show.

We have often wondered what sort of a government would be in existence today if the Egyptians whose mummies are exposed as diggers find them had lived on, that is whether experience would not have prevented at least the greatest blunders in government.

For the Roosevelt program is on a road older than any in Egypt. It has violated some of the soundest principles of government and of finance. It will find, like the drinker, that it cannot keep in its airy state of mind without more drink. It cannot even hide its blunders without more power. Its apparent willingness to toss the reins of government to John L. Lewis in consideration of the $600,000 campaign fund as well as the delightful applause from workers' calloused hands only burs more helium into the balloon of inflation. And this because when wages are increased helter-skelter, under the threat of violence and disorder, and in many instances perhaps far beyond the ability of the corporation to meet them, it has no avenue of escape excepting in increased prices, enough of which were made necessary by its already heavily increased taxes.

But if we gave Mr. Roosevelt the entire supreme court and all its functions today, anyone can tell you with the certainty of the sun's appearance tomorrow that he will be back after still more power, the power to bind your arms as well as your hands, to regulate your daily life, to direct the bustle of grain that go into the feeder, the number of hills for potatoes and so on down the line.

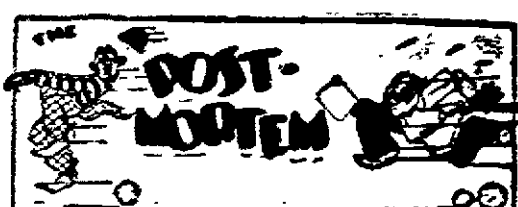

The trouble is with those who travel this ancient road they become in too gay a frame of mind, joyous at the music and applause, to look on either side of them. Were they to just cast their eyes to right and left a bit they might be led to inquire wherefore so many skeletons line the way.

(Or wouldn't YOU like to have the address?)

Well, folks, anytime anyone of you get into the Windy City, drop in—now that I'm back apartmenting. The roommate is a cream-and-peaches complexioned gal from the adjoining state (south) and we get along like two breezes fanning Sally Rand. Although we've had the apartment for a month (4:30 p. m. last Sunday), I've yet to find out where things are and why. So you who go the dropping-in can also help in the search.

There's the cutest dark-eyed senorita back of the desk, with the deepest dimples this side of the Mississippi. And such a honey-lamb! (Indecent: enough?) And then we're only a block and a half from the Lake, so swim suits will come in awfully handy. Furthermore, the roommate is getting to be a swell little cook, even if she still can't handle a can-opener (or can't for that matter) and can handle a steak as though she meant it. And if you're still not taking any chances, I'll buy you an Evanstonian who really and truly can cook! A tall, blond Irishman, six-two-and-something" and the way that lad broils a three-inch steak is something to talk of for generations. His salads are man-sized, especially his pet one—a delicious lobster salad; and the coffee! Oh, boy! Oh, I've just thought of an idea—not for the first time—but it persists in hanging around as though it might someday be useful—how's about all the Post-Mortemites getting together and having one grand convention? Or, gee whiz, wasn't that such a good idea? Oh, well, I've often thought of it, and thought this might be a swell time to tell about it. Today is one of those days one gets ideas of that kind—one posted on it. Salle says "Jamaica is calling you" and for the life of me I can't seem to hear ANYTHING but that call. Not even the boss, who is looking at me now with something like doubt in his eyes. Ho hum.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

A GIFT FROM HEAVEN

For every one there is a gift from heaven,
A compensation for the tolling years;
In the dull day, a little bit of heaven
To stimulate the pride and conquer fears.

There is one prize to keep the heart from breaking,
One gleam of brightness in the darkest night,
One draught from Life's clear water to be sipping,
The thirsy soul that struggles toward the light.

There is a gift from heaven, pure and healing,
The weary pilgrim reads it in the glow
Of hope that on the western sky is stealing,
The patient heart is lifted from its woe.

And when I count my daily blessings, dreaming
Of far adventures that could not come true,
I see your voice I long gaze through darkness,
Gleaming.

And know my gift from God's great hand is you.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

TREAT YOURSELF TO VITAMIN B

The British Army ration, as described in an earlier talk, yields 4000 calories and approximately 750 units of vitamin B daily, enough vitamin B, it has been found, to protect soldiers in the tropics from beriberi (multiple neuritis polyneuritis), but not enough vitamin B to keep men at the peak of possible physical efficiency, or in the finest fettle. A diet providing only 20 units of vitamin B per hundred calories is inadequate to maintain optimal nutrition or the highest attainable state of health. To insure optimal nutrition the daily intake of vitamin B must be at least 39 units for every 100 calories. If the average adult's daily ration yields 2,750 calories the vitamin B requirement for a day would be 325 units.

Briefly the vitamin B content of the following items is: Plain wheat, 60 units per ounce. Pure wheat germ, 350 units per ounce. Brewers yeast, pasteurized, dried, 1,000 to 1,200 units per ounce. Banana, 8 units per ounce. Graham bread, 49 units per ounce. White bread, practically none. Whole wheat bread, 40 units per ounce. Raw cabbage, 14 units per ounce. String beans, 8 units per ounce. Egg, 16 units per ounce. Fresh green peas, 60 units per ounce. Tomato juice, 9 units, orange juice, 9 units per ounce.

Some characteristic indications of moderate deficiency of vitamin B are weakness and fatigue not relieved by rest; generalized tenderness, especially tenderness in the calves; tingling, numbness, burning and other abnormal sensations; tonic constipation (atonic means relaxation, lack of elasticity in the muscle wall of the alimentary tract); poor digestion and assimilation; poor circulation.

Where there is a pronounced vitamin B deficiency the tongue is beefy red, smooth or bald, and perhaps sore or abnormally sensitive to certain foods such as acid fruits. A person whose nutrition is good, has a slightly rough tongue covered with papillae which is not very red and generally has a slight coat of fur especially toward the back, and shows no marks or indications of the teeth.

Clinicians who are well informed in the newer knowledge of nutrition and alert in diagnosis find that vitamin B deficiency is a frequent factor of the weakening of the heart (loss of compensation) which hospitalizes many persons; impairment of the muscle efficiency of the heart is the first manifestation in many cases of beriberi (polyneuritis) which is due to a severe deficiency of vitamin B.

How can you tell whether your health suffers from vitamin B deficiency? Simplest way I know is by taking a handful of pasteurized, dried brewers yeast tablets daily, and since few if any of us get enough vitamin B from natural food sources, you had better take irradiated yeast—irradiation with ultraviolet imparts vitamin D, as well as the vitamin B and vitamin G already present in such yeast. I myself like to chew a dozen such tablets at breakfast every morning. Keeps me in fine fettle.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Psoriasis

Have you any suggestions for one subject to psoriasis? I have had it for about fifteen years and it always seems worse in the spring. (R. M.)

Answer—Send stamped envelope

bearing your address and ask for monograph on psoriasis.

Life Goes On

I am 41, (follow a list of symptoms) which a doctor here thinks may be due to change of life... (Mrs. C. R. S.)

Answer—The menopause is a normal cessation of menstruation usually occurring between 45 and 55 years of age. It is never an explanation for ill health. Send stamped addressed envelope and ask for advice on the subject.

Temporary Teeth

Daughter, 7, lost two upper front teeth ten months ago, and no sign that they are growing. Is the time past for her to get her permanent teeth to fill these spaces? (F. G.)

Answer—If she has cut her "six-year molars" the incisors will probably come in before she is eight years old. See that she gets an extra ration of vitamin D daily and her place in the sun. It pays to have the family dentist's advice about such a question. A little care by the dentist now may save much expense later.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE

Editor Post-Crescent—The question of the nine old men of the supreme court has occupied considerable space in the American press lately, and no doubt will so continue for a long time to come.

This article is not written for the purpose of starting an argument with the readers of the Post-Crescent. The Lord knows that there is plenty of room for one, and one don't have to look very far to get into one if he so desires.

Most of the manufacturers and men of finance are against the proposed change and contend that the present nine old men are better fitted for their duties than younger men would be. If one looks around executives, insurance and bank presidents, railroad executives and men of finance, holding office late in the autumn of life. Still most of these men decree that, no man over 45 years of age be given employment regardless of experience. And there are such employers right here in the Fox River Valley, who will not hire one over forty years old, and you can not tell me different because I know. I have given distinct knocks upon the door of most of the manufacturers in this vicinity, and the answer is not to day, and can not make any promises for the future.

Although I am a tradesman with over 20 years of experience, I've made it plain that I am not particular what kind of a job I was given as long as it was employment.

According to the employers code, in order for one to hold an executive position he must have long experience, and in order to acquire that experience, one naturally has to put in many years in the several branches in the field, consequently by that time that man has advanced in age. What I can't understand is if a man skilled in any trade with a quarter of a century of experience is thought too old at forty, why not a railroad president a corporation executive, or supreme court Justice is not too old at 65 at 70 yes at 80 or over?

If a skilled tradesman is considered too old at 40 and 45 then I should think a corporation executive, or a railroad president at sixty ought to be chloroformed in order to make room for some kid out of high school with new ideas and plenty physical stamina.

I suppose all of us poor old wretches of forty and over should crawl in a hole and die, and let those youngsters of sixtyfive and over manage the destinies of industry and our country. Such is life, so what?

Over forty five

Your Birthday

"ARIES"
If March 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 to 10:45 a. m., from 1:45 to 3:45 p. m. and from 7:45 to 9:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 6:45 to 8:45 a. m., from 5:45 to 7:45 p. m. and from 9:45 to 11:45 p. m.

Do not harbor ill will, or allow some pet aversion to upset your disposition, if you wish to keep from finding yourself on bad terms with some member of your family or a friend this day. Arrogance, or some form of superciliousness, is apt to prove the fly in the ointment of happiness, so do not resort to an overbearing attitude under any circumstances. Customary procedures are the safest to follow this day, any departure from them being dangerous. Written directions, commercial paper or negotiable securities must not be carelessly handled, for financial losses may originate from any of the three, through negligence. It will be easy to outstay your welcome if you make any prolonged social call this day, so be tactful in this respect. Married and engaged couples, as well as those whom Cupid has brought together, are likely to discover an excessive amount of wise-cracking will not be appreciated.

If a woman and March 24 is your birthday, you are very likely to be extremely punctilious. Avoid being too much of a stickler for formality, as this might interfere with your popularity, especially as a hostess. You probably have an almost uncanny power of being able to anticipate the actions of other people, in so far as you are personally concerned. You might not be very good at driving a bargain, as you are not likely to be a good bluffer. You possibly need someone capable of giving you advice whenever there is a business transaction that might affect your pocketbook. You are probably best adapted to do work of an artistic, literary or educational nature. Your matrimonial life perhaps is going to be just what you make it. The chances are you will display a great deal of wisdom in its fashioning.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVE

Washington—We had an inquiry today that suggested someone might have the impression that John L. Lewis eats fried eggs with his knife and shaves on Tuesdays and Saturdays.

"Tein't so. Yet it reminds us of that quaint Americanism that likes its public men born in a log cabin but able at the age of 35 to talk three languages, place long distance calls nonchalantly and know what to do with the third fork on the left of the plate.

When members of congress write their biographies for the directory they pack them so full of log cabins and simple farm houses that it is a wonder there are enough to go around. And three out of five of them worked their way through state teachers college to the tune of rattling milk cans at froxy 2 a. m.

So it would seem that if Lewis wants to be President he had better known as an eminent public figure he must let the public know that while once he was hard and corny he now is soft, kindly disposed to all, and equal to the ways of the upper classes.

White Collar Man

Lewis hasn't mind much coal in a personal way since he became an organizer in 1910. For 20 years or more he has been a sort of white collar man, and it drinks he never shows it: when business is to be done.

He studies much of Napoleon and smiles about as rarely as Napoleon. One of the weirdest stories of NRA's hectic first days is now, a few minutes after a midnight code conference broke up, Lewis and General Hugh Johnson suddenly began roaring at each other across a table. They had rough sketched the battle of Waterloo on a large sheet and were clashing over whether Napoleon should have moved a certain division into center or around left flank.

Sarcasm

His statesmanship isn't polished, as shown by his cash-and-carry demand on Roosevelt for aid in the General Motors strike. But his Sarcasm is hard to match. The story comes from a good source that on the night of the recent big steel-labor agreement he walked into the room where he had been dickering with coal operators for the new wage-hour agreement they must work out by April 1.

He told them in his usual cold-chisel voice that he had just signed a wage-hour agreement with big steel and that probably would have a lot of influence on what the steel-owned coal mines would do. There was consternation among the coal representatives. They asked for a recess, and Lewis is reputed to have said:

"I know all about it, boys. I sympathize with you. You can do anything. Go get your orders changed and then come back."

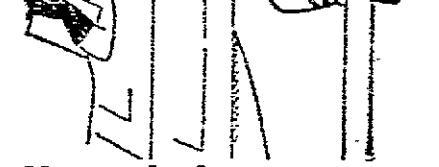

knowledge, as well as the happy faculty of knowing how to make good use of it.

If a man and March 24 is your natal day, if you sick to your own business, refrain from taking wild gambles, as well as trying to mix business with pleasure, you ought to prosper. As a journalist, theatrical producer or actor, lawyer, educator or artist your results might be far greater than your most optimistic hopes.

Cadence Club Hears How Love of Folk Songs Is Expressed

How the love for folk songs in Bohemia and Russia began to be expressed in the nineteenth century by such leaders as Smetana and Glinka was described by Mrs. W. M. Van Horn in a paper on "Nationalism in Russia and Bohemia" given at the meeting of the Cadence club Monday afternoon at the Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

A definite attempt was made by native composers, she said, to use the resources of the folk music for the development of the national schools. Recordings of the works of various composers who helped to develop these schools were part of the program.

The club's next meeting will be April 5 at the home of Mrs. Harold Heller, 533 N. Tonka street. The subject will be "Nationalism in Norway, Spain, England, America and Finland," with different parts of the subject presented by various members of the club.

Local Churches Plan to Commemorate Passion, Death and Resurrection of Christ in Special Holy Week Services

HOLY week or passion week, that period during the year when all Christians join in commemorating the passion and death of Christ, is characterized by solemnity and solemnity. Practically all social activities during this week as people turn their minds and thoughts to serious contemplation of the meaning of the days immediately preceding Easter and join with the Christian world in observing them in a fitting manner.

For the last week, since Passion Sunday, statues and crucifixes in the Catholic churches have been draped with purple, signifying the sorrow which the church feels, especially during these last few days of the lenten season. Silence unbroken by either the organ or bells will be a noticeable feature of the church services from Thursday until Saturday morning. The bells will be rung during the solemn high mass on Holy Thursday morning in every Catholic church, and will not be heard again until the Gloria of the mass on Holy Saturday morning. Clappers will take the place of the altar bells at various points in the services on Thursday and Friday, and there will be no sound from the large bells in the church belfries during that period to warn the faithful that services are about to begin. Lent ends officially at noon on Saturday, all lenten restrictions and regulations being dispersed with at that time.

Plan Services

Sermons on various phases of the passion and death of Jesus Christ, and holy communion services will characterize the holy week services in the Protestant churches, some of which began Sunday and Monday evenings.

Four Protestant churches are joining in union holy week services being conducted each night through Wednesday at First Congregational church. The first service was held Sunday night with Dr. Gilbert S. Cox, of First Methodist Episcopal church, preaching on "The Comfort of the Cross." Last evening the Rev. R. H. Spangler of First Baptist church preached on "The Judgment of the Cross," this evening the Rev. John B. Hanna of First Congregational church will preach on "The Dynamic of the Cross" and the final sermon will be given Wednesday evening by the Rev. Robert K. Bell of Memorial Presbyterian church on "The Challenge of the Cross." The choir and organists of the cooperating churches provide the music at each service.

Union Service

Another union service which is being conducted by Appleton Ministerial association and in which a number of Protestant churches are participating is the Good Friday service from 12 to 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at Trinity English Lutheran church. The choir and organists of the cooperating churches provide the music at each service.

Words of the Cross, and seven short sermons will be given on the theme by the Rev. John B. Hanna, the Rev. D. E. Bosserman, the Rev. G. H. Blum, Dr. Gilbert S. Cox, the Rev. A. Guenther, the Rev. Robert K. Bell and the Rev. R. H. Spangler.

All Saints Episcopal church begins its holy week services Monday morning with a holy communion service at 7:15, and held a candle-light service at 7:30 that evening. This morning there was holy communion again at 7:15 and 10 o'clock, and there will be another candle-light service at 7:30 this evening as well as Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. The Saturday evening service will be in preparation for Easter communions.

Holy Communion

Holy communion will be celebrated also at 7:15 Wednesday and Thursday mornings and at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. There will be a corporate communion for all women of the parish when the united thank offering will be presented. A 3-hour service will be held from 12 to 3 o'clock Friday afternoon with addresses on the seven words of the cross and the living bread by the rector, the Rev. W. J. Spitzer. The sermon subjects are as follows: "Father, Forgive," "Breaking the Bread of Life," "Breaking the Bread of Evil Habits," "Mother, Behold!" "Breaking the Bread of Maladjustments," "God-Forsaken," "Breaking the Bread of Failure," "I Thirst," "Breaking the Bread of Suffering," "It Is Finished," "Breaking the Bread of Duty," "Father, Commend—Spirit," "Breaking the Bread of Surrender." Holy baptisms will take place at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Office Of Tenebrae

Intimately connected with the observance of holy week, the office of the Tenebrae is one of the most ancient components of the Roman breviary, the priest's official prayer, which will be held at 7:30 Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights at St. Joseph's church. Outstanding features of this service are the lamentations, the triangular candlestick containing 15 candles which are gradually extinguished until only one remains, and the noise at the conclusion of the services. The light, signifying Christ as the light of the world, is then taken behind the altar, leaving the church in complete darkness for a few moments, and is then brought back, symbolizing Christ's resurrection from the dead. The noise symbolizes the disturbance of nature at the death of Christ and also indicates the end of the Tenebrae. The office is chanted by the priests of the Capuchin monastery and the lamentations are sung partly by the priests and partly by the male choir of St. Joseph's church.

Only one mass will be celebrated at St. Joseph's church on Maundy Thursday, that is, at 8 o'clock. Holy communion will be distributed at 5:30, 6:15, 7 o'clock, 7:30 and during the 8 o'clock mass, but not after the mass. The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed all day Thursday for private adoration. There will be no morning services on Good Friday, but a 3-hour service will begin at 12 o'clock, noon, beginning with mass of the presanctified. Vespers will be chanted in the sanctuary, a sermon will be preached and stations of the cross will follow. Veneration of the cross will end the 3-hour service.

Holy Saturday

On Holy Saturday the ceremonies begin at 6 o'clock. These consist of the blessing of the fire, the paschal candle and Easter water. Solemn high mass will start at 8 o'clock, evening. Wednesday afternoon and in the evening after services, Thursday morning and each morning during the masses, also Saturday evening after services.

At St. Mary church holy week services begin with the regular lenten sermon and benediction at 7:30 Wednesday evening followed by confessions in preparation for Holy Thursday, the day on which the church celebrates the institution of the Holy Eucharist. Confessions will be heard from 3 to 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon also. Thursday morning holy communion will be distributed at 7 o'clock but there will be no mass until 8 o'clock when a solemn high mass and procession of the blessed sacrament by the clergy and altar boys will take place. Blessed sacrament will be exposed on the altar for private adoration all day Thursday and there will be holy hour at 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

No Services Friday

There will be no services Friday morning at St. Mary church, but oration of the blessed sacrament will begin at 7 o'clock in the morning and continue until 12 o'clock when the Good Friday 3-hour services will begin with mass of the presanctified. The way of the cross will follow, the way of the cross and adoration of the cross will take place at 7:30 Friday evening.

Saturday morning services consisting of the blessing of the fire, Easter candle, Easter and baptismal water will begin at 7 o'clock and mass will start about 8 o'clock. Solemn high mass at 7 o'clock at Sacred Heart church on Holy Thursday will be followed by private adoration of the blessed sacrament all day ending with services from 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening. Mass of the presanctified will be said at 7 o'clock Friday morning and there will be stations of the cross at 7:30 in the evening. Veneration of the cross will take place after services.

Blessing Of Water

The ceremonies of the blessing of the Easter and baptismal water, Easter candle, holy fire will begin at 7 o'clock Saturday morning followed by mass.

St. Theresa church will begin its holy week activities with stations of the cross and benediction at 7:30 Wednesday night. Confessions will be heard in the afternoon and after devotions in the evening. Holy communion will be distributed at 6 o'clock Thursday morning and the high mass will be celebrated at 8 o'clock. Adoration of the blessed sacrament will take place all day. The specific hours for societies begin as follows: women, 4 to 5 o'clock; girls, 5 to 6 o'clock; men, 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening.

On Friday, adoration will take place all morning until noon when the mass of the presanctified will be celebrated. Veneration of the cross will follow, the entire service to last for nearly three hours. There will be stations at 7:30 in the evening. The ceremonies of blessing the Easter candle and fire will begin at 7 o'clock Saturday morning and mass will be said at 8 o'clock.

"The Darkest Hour," a cantata by Harold Moore, will feature the service at 7:45 Thursday night at First Methodist Episcopal church. The cantata which will be sung by the choir assisted by soloists under the direction of Dean Carl J. Waterman tells of the events of the passion and death of Christ. Solo parts will be sung by Mrs. H. L. Krieger, Dean Waterman, Edward Mumm and William Guyer. David Schaub will play the organ. "The Darkest Hour" is one of the more recent cantatas and has never been sung in this vicinity before. There will be a communion service at 7:45 Friday night at the church.

The Thursday night service at First Congregational church will be based on the Tenebrae with lighting effects patterned after those of the seventh and eighth century Tenebrae service. The service will include the organ prelude, procession in silence, a moment of silence, hymns, a litany with the minister and people participating in the prayers and responses. Reception of new members and a communion service will be included in this service. Mrs. La Vahn Maesch will sing a solo, "All in an April Evening" by Diack.

Passion Week

Passion week is being observed at Salvation Army temple with nightly sermons at 7:45 each evening. Adjutant Len Burridge preached last night on "The Turning of the Tide" and this evening his subject will be "Controversy" (The Day of Super-Activity). Other subjects for the rest of the week include: Wednesday, "Silence" (The Day of Waiting and Wonder); Thursday, "The Man Whom Judas Sold" (The Day of Sacrifice); Friday, "History's Most Famous Antechamber."

Reception of new members will feature the service at 7:30 Wednesday evening at Trinity English Lutheran church. Confession and absolution for those who commune on Thursday will take place also. The sermon for that evening by the Rev. D. E. Bosserman will be entitled "The Way of Sorrow." There will be a communion service at 7:30 Thursday evening, the pastor to preach on "Calvary" and a regular preaching service will take place at 7:30 Friday night, the sermon to be entitled "In the Grave."

St. Matthew Lutheran church, holy week services will begin with German communion at 7:45 Thursday night and continue with English communion at 10 o'clock Friday morning and 7:45 in the evening.

Pastor To Preach

The Rev. F. M. Brandt will preach at all of the holy week services at St. Paul Lutheran church. English holy communion will be celebrated at 7:30 Thursday evening and at 9 o'clock Friday morning, and there will be German communion at 10:15 Friday morning and at 7:30 in the evening. Announcement for communion will take place all day today.

Holy week services at Zion Lutheran church will begin Wednesday evening with regular lenten services at 7:45 in the evening. German holy communion will be celebrated at 7:30 Thursday evening. There will be an English service at 9 o'clock Friday morning and one in German at 10:15. A latter service will include holy communion. A short devotional service will take place at 1:30 Good Friday afternoon, and at 7:30 that evening there will be English holy communion. The confessional address will be given by the Rev. Theodore Marth on "Guests at the Master's Table." Last Sunday the

Co-Eds More Sociable Than Men, Survey Shows

Chicago, Ill. — (AP) — Co-eds were found to be 9 per cent more sociable than male students in a survey made by De Paul university. Sixty-two per cent of the boys go directly home after classes while only 36 per cent of the girls do so. Fifty-three per cent of the boys work outside of the college compared to 36 per cent of the girls. The average weekly allowance to the boys is $3.50, for the girls, $4.

Special Service

St. John Evangelical and Reformed church will have but one special holy week service, a holy communion service in German at 7:30 Friday evening. Last Sunday the Sunday school children participated in the Palm Sunday service by carrying palm branches as they marched into the church and singing songs. The pastor, the Rev. A. Guenther, preached on "The Triumphant King."

Beginning Monday night, Emmanuel Evangelical church is holding services at 7:30 each evening at the church this week. The Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor, is preaching the sermons on events of the passion and death of Christ. The Friday night service will be a communion service. Last Sunday the pastor preached on "The Christ Trumphant" and there was a short graduation program for the catechism class.

Sermon Subject

"Confessing Our Faith at the Cross" is the subject of a sermon to be given by the Rev. F. C. Reuter, pastor of First English Lutheran church, at the lenten service at 7:30 Wednesday night at his church on Maundy Thursday there will be a communion service at 7:30 in the evening, and on Good Friday a mid-day lenten service will take place from 1 to 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The sermon subject by the pastor will be "The Inevitable Christ." Communion will take place at 7:30 Friday evening also.

The house sent the resolution to the senate without roll call, but previously had voted 56 to 37 to reject a motion by Assemblyman O. A. Rice (R), Delavan, that it be killed.

The resolution said sit-down strikers at the Pansteel corporation had been driven out with tear gas and bullets and the homes of union officials organizing employees of the Kroehler company of Kankakee had been bombed.

Only Service

A communion service at 7:30 Thursday evening will be the only holy week service at First Baptist church. The Baptist church is joining with other churches in union services each evening through Wednesday and on Good Friday afternoon. Last Sunday the Rev. R. H. Spangler, pastor, preached on "Jesus Comes to Jerusalem."

St. Olive Lutheran church will have several special services this week, communion to be celebrated at 7:45 Wednesday and Thursday evenings and at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. There will be another special service at 7:45 Friday night at the church. The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer's sermon theme for Wednesday night will be "Christ the Bread of Heaven—The Way to Life." Thursday he will speak on "The Holy Sacrament—Means of Grace." Friday afternoon his subject will be "Words from the Cross" and Friday night he will preach on "How the Scriptures were Fulfilled in the Dead Christ."

Plan Campaign

An evangelistic campaign opens this evening at The Gospel temple with the Rev. and Mrs. H. R. Carlblom, known as the "West Point revivalists," conducting services at 7:45 each evening except Saturday. At Memorial Presbyterian church there will be a devotional service at 7:45 Thursday evening preparatory to communion on Friday. Mrs. Lawrence Burley will read "The Radiant Tree" by Marguerite Wilkinson and Marshall Hubert will sing. At 7:45 Friday night there will be a communion service and reception of members.

Badger Assembly Wants Investigation Of Alleged Strike Violence in Illinois

Madison — (AP) — The assembly adopted today a joint resolution by Emil Costello (P), Kenosha, a Wisconsin C. I. O. organizer, asking the LaFollette labor committee to investigate what the author termed acts of violence against union officials and workers in Chicago and Kankakee, Ill.

The house sent the resolution to the senate without roll call, but previously had voted 56 to 37 to reject a motion by Assemblyman O. A. Rice (R), Delavan, that it be killed.

The resolution said sit-down strikers at the Pansteel corporation had been driven out with tear gas and bullets and the homes of union officials organizing employees of the Kroehler company of Kankakee had been bombed.

On motion of Assemblyman Milnor Murray (R), Milwaukee, the measure was amended to strike out a statement that "definite proof of this act is available."

Assemblyman David Sigman (P), Two Rivers, an organizer for the Wisconsin Federation of Labor, supported the resolution, but asserted leaders of the Pansteel strike, who criticized the Wisconsin labor movement had to come to this state for help.

"I see no reason for adopting this," said Assemblyman Cornelius T. Young (D), Milwaukee. "Why in heaven's name should we bother with Illinois problems when we have enough of our own? If we do not damage."

Censorship Rules In Reich on New Church Question

Press and Radio Silent but Germans Hear of Pope's Encyclical

Berlin — (AP) — The general German public still was ignorant today—so far as any press or radio announcements were concerned—of Pope Pius' encyclical letter in which the reich was charged with breaking the church-state concordat of 1933.

Press and radio strictly obeyed the propaganda ministry's orders not to touch the subject of the letter, read from Catholic pulpits Sunday. By word of mouth, however, knowledge of the pope's unusual action traveled with amazing rapidity.

A government spokesman, meanwhile, recovered his breath sufficiently to inform inquiring foreign correspondents that the pope's letter is honestly regarded. He said the pope, as well as the foreign press, is hardly the place for armistice of a partner to the treaty.

No Settlement Seen

"This form of discussion chosen by the holy see," said this spokesman "hardly indicates an intention of settling the manner amicably but to the contrary constitutes interference in Germany's domestic affairs."

"The reich government had hoped the pope would adjure priests to live up to the concordat and not use the pulpit for attacking the government. Instead the pope appears to encourage the clergy in its course. He continued:

"If in Germany, Catholics are spared persecutions by the goddess, it is due to the victory of the nazi movement. That the church feels itself free and untrammelled may be seen from the fact it dares to attack the party to whose existence it owes its life."

Students Fined for Leaving Lockers Open

Because many Roosevelt Junior High school students leave their lockers open, a new system of fines has been started at the school. A check up is made at the start of each period and if a locker is found open, a green tag is placed on the door and the owner must pay a fine of 2 cents. The second offense costs 5 cents and the third offense and all after that cost a nickel. The money collected from the fines will be used for issuing the school paper.

Youth Prevails as Jaces Win Inter-Club Olympic Championship

Youth had its fling last night as a keyed up group of junior chamber of commerce members rallied in the closing events to capture the annual inter-club olympics at the Y. M. C. A. with the defending Rotary team in second place. Jaces scored 122 points compared to 111 for the Rotarians. The Lions were in third place with 100 while the Kiwanians trailed with 24 points.

Although a victory in contract bridge gave the Jaces the title, it was the tug-of-war team which really won the games. After barely sneaking through a qualifying match, the Jace tuggers pulled a New York Giants pro football team trick and went to the lockers, put on tennis shoes and then easily pulled the second place Rotary team over the finish line.

For a long time it seemed that the adage "Youth Must be Served" would be broken as the favorite Rotarian team entered competition last night with a 10-point lead gained in the volleyball tournament. After seven events were completed, contestants repaired to the dining room with the Rotary having 55 points, Jaces 44, Lions 42 and Kiwanis 23.

Jaces Win Easy Firsts
Although the youngest team won, no one can blame the older competitors as they proved superior in the majority of the strenuous events. The Jaces piled up their total by gaining first places in bowling, dart baseball and contract bridge, supposedly games for older persons. For a time it seemed as though the winners would be out of the running as they couldn't find a fourth man for contract bridge but Captain H. L. Davis, Jr., finally came to the rescue.

Old timers were exuberant and fairly dashed through the early events, especially those in the gymnasium. The only time that seriousness was the keynote of the olympics was during the bridge game when the smoke from innumerable cigarettes could hardly penetrate the heavy silence.

The heavy paunch was the exception at the games and it appears that heavy training periods were put in by many of the competitors. The prize for the most spirit during the events went to David Bender for his antics on the basketball court although Jack Notebaart, attired in basketball togs and sporting a "Roosevelt" jersey, ran him a close second.

Rotarians Best Singers
Rotary club won honors however for their rendition of "The Old Gray Mare" after the family style supper. Led by Carl S. McKee, the group put on the pressure and sang the song with loud gusto only to reveal unexpected control at command of the leader and modulate to soft harmony. Kiwanians vied for singing honors with its theme song "There is a Tavern in the Town." Lions sang "My Wild Irish Rose" while the Jaces did a poor rendition of "I've Been Working on the Railroad" until all others joined in.

Even though there may have been a ringer or two in the crowd, everyone left the Y in a happy frame of mind content that their team would have won. "If" that the contestants were primed for a heavy evening was evident at 5:15 in the afternoon when the first events got underway.

While shuffleboard and two dart baseball games were underway, old basketballers were out on the court forever dodging darts for a few shots at the hoop. Many of the real veterans were content however to view the games from the safety of the balcony or along the sidelines.

100 Members Complete
About 100 members of the four organizations participated in the games with the Rotary club having the largest entry list and the Kiwanis group the smallest. The winning Jace team was the only aggregation which had to scurry around to find sufficient players for all events.

Juvenile spirit was shown as players eagerly finished one tilt and immediately started competition in another. The largest crowd at any of the events was at the tug-of-war although many were disappointed when Charles Emder failed to put in an appearance to serve as anchor man on the Lions team.

Daniel P. Steinberg put the Rotary club in an early lead with a victory in billiards. Clarence Bellow of the junior chamber of commerce finished second with W. B. Montgomery. Lions, third, and William F. Kelm, Kiwanis, fourth.

reversed the verdict in pool with a victory over Steinberg while Otto Tank, Kiwanis, defeated Montgomery for third place. Dr. C. Perschbacher, Kiwanis, defeated the old master, Homer Gebhardt, Rotary, in ping pong with Franklin Jesse, Lions, in third position.

Jaces Win Darthall
The Jaces proved to be the Dizzy Deans. Pepper Martins and Lou Gehlitz in the dart baseball game and with a flurry of home runs in the late innings gained a victory. The winning team included Falk, Davis, Feldhaber and Holtzman. The Lions were second, Rotary, third, and Kiwanis last. Although most squads used only four men, the Rotary had seven sluggers at the plate.

Robert Allison, Lions, won the final match over the Rev. John D. Hanna, Rotary, in head ball singles with Jack Notebaart finishing third. In the doubles event, Ray Rich and Allison of the Lions cooperated first honors with Paul Dett and Gebhardt, Rotary, in second place. Wilmer Krueger teamed with A. Woelher to win third money for the Jaces.

In shuffleboard Guy Marston and George Nolting of Kiwanis won first place with the Rotary team of W. D. Schlafer and C. C. Folkes in second place. In the third position, Dave Bender and George Howard won over the Lions duo of C. B. Turner and Chris Mullin.

Break Turn-of-war Rope
In obtaining rope for the tug-of-war, managers failed to consider the stored up energy of Rotary and

Lions club members with the result that the rope broke in the first preliminary event and sent eager contestants spilling over the gym floor. When order had been restored the junior chamber of commerce men with the Lions second, Rotary third, and the Kiwanis last.

The much-heralded relay race failed to enthrall the crowd as a swift Jace squad took the lead over the first turn and continued ahead throughout the race. R. C. Swanson, John Notebaart, Wilmer Stach and Bud Falk formed the winning team. Lions were second with Rotary third.

When all events except bowling and bridge had been completed, the Jace team led with 76 points with Rotary having 73, Lions 72 and Kiwanis 28. Bowling then gave the winners another first place when their team cracked a 1,551 total. Rotarians spoiled 1,453 with the Lions getting 1,368 and the Kiwanis 1,223. F. Larson, J. Marx and H. Tilmann, composed the Jace aggregation.

Rotary Lose in Upset
The big surprise of the night came in contract bridge where Rotary was expected to be supreme. The Jaces with Robert McNeil, George Harder, H. L. Davis, Jr. and C. J. Kleiber scored 19 points to 17 for the Rotarians.

By scoring 1,133 points the Lions team of Dr. A. W. Zwerg and Rev. J. White won first place in auction bridge. Second went to Rotary with T. E. Orison and the Rev. Robert K. Bell accumulating 1,021 points. Wilmer Gruett and Harold Aykens of the Jaces won third place with 784 points while Kiwanis was last with 763 points being made by George Nolting, C. P. Swanson and Lewis C. Sleeper.

Court Asks for Added Arguments On Power Areas

Requests Attorneys to File Briefs by May 1 on Two Questions

Madison—The state supreme court asked today for additional arguments in the dispute over constitutionality of the 1931 statute under which the Polk-Burnett counties power district was established.

The court requested attorneys for the Clam River Electric company and the public service commission to submit briefs by May 1 on the following questions:

1. Can the state by legislative act validly transfer to a power district the right to acquire property of a utility operating under an indeterminate permit without consent of the municipality which granted the franchise and the utility receiving it?
2. Is the law valid in stating that continued operation of the utility in such districts amounts to acceptance of the statute, in view of the liability of the utility operating under an indeterminate permit if it fails to give sentence?

Dane County Ruling
The public service commission appealed to the supreme court from a decision by Circuit Judge A. C. Hoppman of Dane county holding the law unconstitutional. The statute permits two or more municipalities to join in establishing or acquiring a single utility to serve them.

The Polk-Burnett Power district received commission approval after seven of the twenty-eight municipalities in the two counties voted against becoming part of the district.

In arguments before the high court the utility contended the law is unconstitutional in delegating legislative power to the commission in permitting it to approve the smaller district including 21 towns and villages, and that the provision giving the district the power of acquisition, now held by municipalities, is unlawful. The commission said the law merely gives municipalities the right to do jointly what they previously could do individually.

Model T Turns Over After Crash, Five Occupants Unhurt

A Model T Ford sedan was involved in a collision on S. Memorial drive late this morning, swung around on the highway and turned over onto its top but four of the five occupants escaped injury entirely and the fifth had only a minute scratch on his nose.

The Model T, driven by Arthur Kone, Little Chute, and a car operated by Durrell J. Smith, Kewaunee, both going south on Memorial drive were involved in the collision near the W. Seymour street intersection.

Ludwick Champeau, Clarence Kone, Joseph Joosten and Martin Van Hammond, Little Chute, were riding with Kone and Champeau had his nose scratched by flying glass. Damage to Smith's car was negligible.

Woman Gets Divorce On Desertion Grounds
Charging desertion and claiming voluntary separation for more than five years, Mrs. Ruby Younk, 23, New London, obtained a divorce from John Younk, 37, address unknown, in the municipal court of Judge Thomas H. Ryan Monday.

The suit was not contested. The couple married at Alvin, July 1, 1931, and separated in September of the same year. There were no children and no alimony was sought or ordered.

Two possible theories for ignition of the gas advanced by Dr. Schoch included the "throwing" of a light switch and possible sparks from electric equipment. Definite origin of the explosion was not given, but the professor pointed out it could have been on any one of the 27 radiators.

March AUTHORS

Edited By John Selby

Edgar Lee Masters, Illinois poet, does much better by Walt Whitman in "Whitman" this month than he did by himself in "Across Spoon River" last year.

Diego Rivera, fight provoking painter, has done a second picture book called "Portrait of Mexico." Bertram D. Wolfe provided the text. You have to be socially minded to like it.

Winston A. Churchill, ploughing steadily along on his monumental "Marlborough: His Life and Times" is now at volume 5. It's one of the most meticulous, most interesting of modern biographies.

William A. Brady's "Showman: My Life Story" is like seeing the New York radio in a super-rapid movie—acrobats, plays, bright spots, locker feuds, just quarrels—and it's all Brady.

Tells How to Vote for "Sticker" Candidates
Persons wishing to write in the name of a candidate on the election ballot or use a "sticker" need not mark a cross after the name in order to make their vote valid, according to Carl Becher, city clerk. The ballots which will be used in the spring election will have no square for a cross. Use of a "sticker" or writing in the name of a candidate will be counted as a vote for the nominee.

Urges Education Board With Wide Powers in State

Roehe Proposes to Change Setup Affecting Many Institutions

Madison—The legislature received from Senator E. J. Roethe (R), Fennimore, and Assemblyman J. D. Mullar, (P) Menomonie, today a proposal to set up a board of education with statewide supervisory functions.

The plan would change the administrative setup of the state university, teachers colleges, vocational schools, the library service, deaf and blind institutions and elementary and high schools.

It would establish a policy-making board of nine members, who would be named originally by the governor with senate confirmation, but whose terms would be staggered so that vacancies would occur in three groups. At the expiration of appointments one member of each group would be named by the governor and the other two would be elected on a non-partisan basis.

The authors proposed that the state superintendent of public instruction act as executive head of the board under the title of state commissioner of education.

Six bureaus, working under supervision of the state board, would be set up to direct the activities of the state university, teachers colleges and the other institutions. Policy-making powers would be delegated entirely to the general board.

Report Greater Use Of "Y" Facilities

Increased use of gymnasium and bath facilities at the Y. M. C. A. was reported last month by R. H. Ruch, physical education director, when 2,560 members and guests registered for gym work. This is an increase of 967 over February of 1936 when 1,593 persons were in attendance.

Of the 2,560 persons using the facilities, 1,182 were men compared to 693 last year. 1,234 were boys compared to 900 a year ago, and 144 were ladies. A total of 3,290 members and guests used the bath department as compared to 2,264 in February, 1936. Of this group, 1,322 were men, 1,567 were boys and 401 were girls.

Clifford Johnson, a pun boy, shot a 233 single game for the highest mark on the "Y" alleys during the month. In an effort to organize a junior swimming team, George Klein is meeting with potential members every Thursday evening. He also is conducting a senior class in life saving.

Realty Transfers

The following real estate transfers were filed today at the office of A. L. Collier, Outagamie county register of deeds:
Anna Clack et al to Charles Goldbeck part of a lot in the Second ward, Appleton.
John F. Mueller to Raymond E. Bonn, parcel of land in the town of Vandenberg.
Frank Young to Arthur Unen-dorfer, a parcel of land in the town of Deer Creek.

Appleton Man Fined On Charge of Speeding

Raymond Haberland, 1103 N. State street, pleaded guilty of speeding when he appeared in municipal court Monday afternoon and was fined $10 and costs by Judge Thomas H. Ryan. Haberland was arrested Friday and accused of driving 33 miles an hour on W. College avenue.

Earl Coenen, route 2, W. DePere, was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty of passing an arterial sign in the town of Kaukauna. Elmer Paulson, route 7, Green Bay, arraigned on a charge of operating as a prostitute without 1937 license plates, was released on payment of costs.

Board to Act on Farm Loan Plan

County Application for Federal Funds Proposed At Committee Session

An application by Outagamie county to the Wisconsin Home and Farm Credit administration for federal funds to be released as loans to farmers was proposed at a meeting of the county board's executive committee with R. C. Swanson, county agent, Monday.

If funds are obtained and loaned, it was explained, the county would collect from the borrowers but would have any losses deducted from the county appropriation of federal gasoline tax. After a lengthy discussion, the committee decided to bring the matter before the county board at its meeting next Monday.

The buildings and grounds committee was authorized to purchase a water cooler for the courthouse first floor, two new desks for the highway office and to make necessary repairs in a second floor rest room.

County membership in the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, at $2, was voted.

Chamber of Commerce Will Elect Directors

Five directors to the board of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce will be named next month. A committee consisting of George Volting, chairman, William Van Dyck, W. C. Jacobson, W. A. Strassburger and George E. Johnson, have been named by President F. N. Belanger to select 10 nominees for the vacancies.

Directors whose terms expire are Belanger, Homer H. Benton, R. E. Moody, William Rounds and Karl Schuetter. Ballots will be sent to members next month and results of the election will be announced at the annual meeting the latter part of April.

Park Board Will Hear Report on WPA Project

A report on a WPA water conservation project will be heard at a meeting of the Outagamie County Park commission at the courthouse tonight. Joseph E. Doerflinger, Kimbark, is president of the commission.

Sewage Disposal Plant Ready for Service by May 1

Large Interceptor to be Completed by April 5 At Little Chute

Little Chute—The local sewage disposal plant will be in full operation by May 1, according to John Vanden Yacht, village president. The large interceptor sewer connecting Madison street outlet to the main sewer will be completed by April 5. This interceptor sewer runs along the canal bank at a distance of about 500 feet and at a depth of about 20 feet. The sewer pipe used is 24 inches in diameter.

All the labor on this interceptor was furnished by the WPA. This is the windup of an 18 month sewer and water extension WPA project. This project took 30 men of the relief rolls for a period of about 18 months giving them over $20,000 in wages. In addition to this a great number of consumers were added to the water department.

The next WPA project which has the approval of the WPA and is ready to start is the widening of the swimming pool on the park. This work consists of removal of stone and ground from the pool, and replacing it with sand, also the digging of a channel from pool to main body of water which will keep the water in the pool from becoming stagnant. The sides of this channel will be rip-rapped with river stone. The entire work will be all hand labor.

About 250 persons attended the second presentation of "The Upper Room," a drama of Christ's passion, by Robert Hugh Benson by the Alumni and students of St. John High school under the direction of the Rev. # How Appleton Grew Under Its 30 Mayors Since 1857

(This is the sixth of a series of articles discussing Appleton's mayors and the important matters occurring during their administrations. These articles will appear once a week in the Post-Crescent.)

BY LLOYD J. DERUS

Nearby towns were brought closer to Appleton with the incorporation of the Appleton City Railway company during Mayor James Gilmore's term in 1856. It was planned to operate railway cars with horses and steam in Appleton and other county towns located near the city.

The Appleton Paper company was incorporated during 1856, laying out of three roads east and west from the city was authorized by the legislature. The government postal department made the Appleton post office a money order office because of the demand of increasing business of the city's industries and stores.

Mayor Gilmore favored the building of two bridges, the Prospect and Lawrence streets bridge and a canal bridge in the Fourth ward. However, these bridges were not constructed until the following year when R. R. Bateman was serving as mayor.

At the annual fall school meetings held in the various wards in August, First ward citizens voted $1,500 for wages and other school expenses. Second ward citizens $1,650. Third ward citizens $500 and Fourth ward citizens $410. The Fourth ward was small and needed no more amount. At a special meeting in September the Third ward residents voted almost unanimously to build a brick schoolhouse to cost about $8,500. Mayor Gilmore was on the committee named to select a site.

During the winter teams from all over the county thronged to the city. It was noted at this time that more horse teams were to be seen on the streets than ever before. They were slowly but surely taking the place of the ox teams.

Judge and Attorneys Hear State Bar Head

Waupaca—Judge A. M. Scheller, L. D. Smith and Wendall McNettney attended a dinner meeting Saturday night at the Witter Hotel in Wisconsin Rapids when Roy Graves, president of the state bar association, spoke on "The Integrated Bar." The Agricultural committee of the county met Saturday at the courthouse for the purpose of discussing bill No. 127, relating to emergency drought relief loans for farmers. No action was taken by the committee regarding acceptance of a share of the $1,000,000 relief program, it being deemed advisable to get the sentiment of the members of the county board. It is expected that a special session of the board will be called, since to accept a share of the benefits the board must first give its approval.

Miss Martha Jenney of the state board of health, Madison, will spend Tuesday and Wednesday in the city conferring with the county nurse, Miss Estelle Jung. Since accepting the position of county nurse March 1, Miss Jung has given health talks at 20 schools, inspected a number of public schools in connection with communicable diseases and answered many emergency calls within the school districts. Since there have been scares of mumps, scarlet fever and whooping cough, much time has been given to checking cases in schools at request of their principals.

Among the first of her plans, which she has in mind, is the school disease census, which Miss Jung expects will be started at the beginning of the fall term of school. This will be a checking on the communicable diseases of childhood which a child may have had or been protected against.

Miss Jung will also assist in the child welfare program which will again be sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary. The first of the child health clinics to be held this year will be April 1, at the armory when Dr. Frances Kline of the state health department will take part in the examination of children from 1 to 6 years of age.

Bar Votes Informally On State Courts Bill

Approval of a substitute amendment to the state courts bill providing for retirement of circuit judges was informally approved, with exceptions, at a meeting of the Outagamie County Bar association at Hotel Northern Monday noon. The amendment provides for retirement of circuit judges at 72 and would give them half-pay for the remainder of their terms. The county organization members held, however, that the retirement rule should apply to supreme court as well as circuit court judges and that the half-pay should continue for life for those whose service on the bench has been sufficiently long to warrant any retirement benefits.

Fire at Knitting Mill Causes $1,000 Damage

Damage estimated at $1,000 was caused by a fire at the Zwicker Knitting mill at 3:45 this morning. Firemen who extinguished the blaze, reported that a stoker motor had burned out and that fire had worked back into the stoker's hopper. The loss is covered by insurance.

TAKES CAMP TERM

Mike Johnson, 49, who gave his address as both Shawano and Neenah, pleaded guilty of drunkenness when he was arraigned in municipal court this morning and was committed to the county detention camp for 20 days in default of a $10 fine. He was arrested by Appleton police on the Memorial drive bridge early Monday evening.

high school seniors are substituting for Mr. Aldrich.

The TC's card club met at the home of Ardy Grislwood, Dale, Sunday evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. A. C. Hastings, high for women, and Dr. G. A. Buchner, high for men. Mrs. Buchner won the carrying prize.

MAYOR GILMORE

A money order office was established in Appleton by the government during Mayor James Gilmore's term in 1856 because of the demand of increasing business of the city's industries and stores. Mayor Gilmore favored building of bridges over the canal in the Fourth ward and between Prospect avenue and Lawrence street.

Easter Eggs Will Be Plentiful in State This Year

Wisconsin Production 16 Per Cent Higher Than Year Ago

Easter eggs will be plentiful in Wisconsin this year, and compared with many other foods, will sell at reasonable prices, the state and federal crop reporting service has revealed. Egg production on Wisconsin farms at the beginning of the month averaged about 16 per cent higher than a year ago.

In spite of high feed costs and relatively low prices received for chickens and eggs, Wisconsin crop correspondents report that the number of chickens of laying age on their farms throughout the winter months has been larger than a year ago. Since December, egg production has been especially high.

Poultry ration costs are now 73 per cent higher than a year ago, and poultry and egg prices have not kept pace with them. During February Wisconsin farmers were paying about $20.73 per 1,000 pounds for poultry feed. In other words, for Crop Reporting Service pointed out, only 17 pounds of feed could be exchanged for 10 dozen eggs while a year ago 217 pounds of poultry ration could be purchased with 10 dozen eggs.

Wisconsin crop correspondents report that their flocks averaged 98 hens and pullets of laying age, and the rate of laying at the beginning of the month averaged 37.1 per farm flock. While some decrease in the number of laying birds has taken place recently the number of chickens in the state is probably about the highest that has ever been reported for the state for this time of the year, and egg production has also reached one of the highest marks for the early spring season.

Two-Day Spring Fair Launched at Waupaca Armory

Potato Show and Clinic New Feature of Annual Affair

Waupaca—The annual Merchant's Spring Fair is again being held at the armory Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, with all admissions free except Wednesday evening, when a small charge will be made for the dance which is to close the festivities.

More than twenty merchants have prepared booths where there will be displays of groceries, paints, floor coverings, and electric cooking school, graphs and pictures describing the value of insurance, etc.

A potato show and clinic is a new feature of the spring fair, at which time J. F. Jardine, president of the National Potato association, and Prof. J. C. Millward, secretary of the Wisconsin Potato Growers association, will discuss plant diseases, soil preparation and other problems with the farmers. A special potato exhibit which was assembled for the display in the state capitol has been brought to Waupaca for the fair.

Other attractions will include the circus acts, animal acts, and acrobatics. The entire show of nine acts will be given four times, afternoon and evening of the two days.

For the first time conservation will be featured, and George Hadland, county conservation warden, has arranged a miniature winter feeding station with a forest background. C. Hills, superintendent of the Wild Rose Fish Hatchery, will also exhibit a live trout display brought from the hatchery.

The Fortnightly club was entertained at dinner Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pommer. Three tables of bridge followed the meal, with high honors going to Mrs. James Dance and Arthur Woody, and low to Mrs. Arthur Woody and James Dance.

Miss Carrie Pinkerton, who teaches in the public schools of Rhinelander, is spending her Easter vacation in the city at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Pinkerton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dance and family are spending the week in Waupaca, guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kremers.

Seek Insurance Chair At State University

Possibility of establishing a chair of insurance at the University of Wisconsin is being considered by members of life underwriters associations in the state. The Madison chapter is sponsoring a movement whereby prominent insurance men are writing letters to university leaders giving views on the subject.

The group asks that each writer point out the need for and the results to be obtained throughout the state by establishing such a chair. The study, it is reported, will aid students in understanding risks and risk bearing.

REPORT AUTO THEFT An automobile owned by H. J. Fessbender, route 3, Kaukauna, was reported stolen from the St. Elizabeth hospital driveway about 8:30 Monday evening. The machine is a 1935 model Ford sedan, dark green, with 1937 Wisconsin license plates No. 198-968.

Cooperate With Police, Is Plea at Safety Gathering

Kimberly—The foundation of safety is teaching students to cooperate with the police and to obey traffic regulations. Sergeant Carl Radtke of the Appleton Police department, told a large number of high school and grade children at the March meeting of the County Safety Highway council at the clubhouse, Monday evening.

He said that children must be taught to look left and right before crossing the street and if a car is coming to step back on the curb. He also asked the children to watch and heed the traffic lights, and that children should watch the officer at the intersections and when the officer waves his hand to them, it is safe to cross. He stressed that children should never cross between trains.

Sergeant Radtke explained that motorists can help to prevent accidents by watching their parking. He also said that shrubbery should never be planted near an intersection.

Bicycles, the speaker said, must have lights on them and stay close to the curb and must not carry passengers. They should travel in single file when there is more than one.

He added that care must be taken in pumping up bicycle tires so that a tire does not burst striking the pumper in the face.

Municipal Judge Ryan, Appleton, also addressed the audience on safety. He stressed safe driving and safe walking and said that 43 per cent of the 40,000 persons killed last year were pedestrians who "took chances."

Traffic laws must be enforced, the judge continued. More people are killed by automobiles than in wars.

County Superintendent of Schools F. P. Young, gave a short talk pertaining to safety and he also read the laws on bicycles. They require a head light and a red tail light and if they do not have this and are involved in an accident no damages can be claimed. They must keep to the right side of the road at all times. The rider must abide by the same rules as the automobile driver. A pedestrian must keep to the left side of the highway, against the traffic.

J. T. Doerflinger, Kimberly, also gave a brief talk in regard to safety and said that in May a safety rally will be held at the clubhouse and

Support in Wild Life Program Is Sought by State

Neenah Federation Asked To Cooperate With Conservation Commission

Neenah—Support and cooperation from local game and fish clubs in the state conservation program were sought by H. W. MacKenzie, director of the conservation department, at a meeting of the Wild Life Federation, a division of Winnebago Land Inc., at the city hall auditorium last evening.

Mr. MacKenzie said the department considered the state as a whole and it was impossible to satisfy every area. He said the commission ruled the opening of spring fishing on April 10 in the waters of the Wolf river and Lake Winnebago after deciding to close it until April 20 because the "ice machine" would have done so anyway.

"We have taken one step by closing it until April 10. Previously, it was open all year around," the speaker continued. "We do not want to make drastic regulations but prefer to go slow." Mr. MacKenzie said it was planned to dump wall-eyed pike in Lake Winnebago this summer.

Will Plant Fish
Plans are planned in waters here adapted to their habits," Mr. Webster declared. "We are increasing our output of fish this year and will plant more fish in the areas where eggs are removed."

"Muskelunge can be caught in Lake Winnebago and we intend to put in more with a great quantity of wall-eyed pike. Wisconsin is the only state boasting 30 to 35 pound fish in inland lakes and is rapidly becoming famous for that reason," he concluded.

The game farm at Poyntelle was discussed by Mr. Grimmer and assurance was given that from 250 to 2,000 day-old pheasant chicks would be made available to Winnebago county this season provided they can be planted and reared properly. The department intends to plant about 100,000 pheasants this year. Mr. Grimmer asked the men to fill out the game census report as a means of determining the animal and bird population of the state. Illegal killing and nest destruction are the greatest enemies of the pheasant, he concluded.

Traffic Mishaps Greater in March

Number Exceeds Total for Same Period in 1936, Council Reports

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau) Oshkosh—Though there was a let-down on the number of traffic accidents last week over the previous week in Winnebago county, the number of accidents in March through Saturday is greater than the number for the same period in 1936. Floyd Wright, statistician for the County Traffic Safety council said today.

Automobile and pedestrian accidents and head-on collisions top the list at five each, with collisions at intersections a close second with a total of four, he said. Drunken drivers caused three accidents, while skidding and a collision with a fixed object accounted for one each.

These accidents resulted in one death, ten were injured, and twenty-three cars were damaged. The record shows that during March, 1935, there were 18 auto accidents. During March, 1937, there have been 19 accidents, to date.

In the same period, last year, there were 62 accidents up to March 20. In 1937, up to the same date, there have been 26 accidents. In 1937 through March 20, 51 persons have been injured. Last year, through March 23, only 29 persons were injured.

Plan Organization of P. T. A. Group Tonight

Neenah—Parents of students at Nicolet school will meet at 8 o'clock this evening at the school to organize a local parent-teachers association. The feature of the meeting which was originally scheduled for 8:30 this afternoon, will be a talk by Miss Emma Brockmeyer, Madison. Officers will be elected and program plans discussed. Mrs. J. M. Galt and Mrs. Andrew Hopkinsberger are the chairs of the arrangements. The change of the time of meeting was made because it is believed more parents, including the fathers as well as the mothers would be able to attend.

SERMON TOPIC

Neenah—The theme of Jesus, "The Christian as a World Citizen" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Carl F. Zietlow at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the First Evangelical church, as he continues his series of evening sermons on "Great Obedience of the Last Week." Eldon J. Smith and Edith Schneider will present the solos.

Union Services Being Arranged For Good Friday

Pastors of Six Churches Will Take Part in Program

Neenah—Good Friday will be observed in Neenah by the annual Union meeting at the First Presbyterian church from noon until 3 o'clock in the afternoon with six ministers, representing six churches, participating.

The Rev. W. R. Courtenay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has chosen "Father, Forgive Them, For they Know Not What They Do" as his sermon topic to be delivered from 12 o'clock until 12:30. Special music will augment the sermon.

"Today Thou Shalt be With Me in Paradise" is the subject chosen by the Rev. W. A. Jacobs, Congregational church pastor, for his sermon from 12:35 to 12:45.

List Sermon Topics
The Rev. Carl F. Zietlow, pastor of the First Evangelical Lutheran church, will speak on "Behold Thy Son," "Behold Thy Mother" from 12:50 to 1:10. "My God, My God, Why Hast Thou Forsaken Me" is the title of a sermon to be delivered by the Rev. U. E. Gibson, pastor of the Baptist church, from 1:15 to 1:35.

From 1:40 to 2 o'clock, the Rev. E. C. Kollath, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran church, will be in charge. His sermon topic is "I Thirst." The Rev. Henry Johnson, First Methodist church minister, will deliver a sermon, "It Is Finished," from 2:05 to 2:25 and the Rev. W. R. Courtenay will conclude the combined service with "Father, Into Thy Hands I Commend My Spirit."

Accompanists will be Mrs. Annette Matheson and Mr. Francis Proctor. Flowers will be furnished through the courtesy of the Neenah Floral Co. and paper has been provided by the Bergstrom Paper Co.

Lions Hear College Debaters at Meeting

Neenah—Two Lawrence college and two Oshkosh Teachers college debaters briefly debated the problem of "Cooperatives" before members of the Neenah Lions club Monday noon at the Memorial building.

The affirmative pair presented the question "Resolved that extension of consumer cooperatives would be an advantage to the public" in that it would organize and increase purchases and standards of living. The negative team maintained that such a program was impractical.

Wesley Persebach and Konrad Tuchscherer, both Neenah boys, represented Lawrence college, and Donald Dornbrook and W. McCarthy represented Oshkosh Teachers college.

Delinquent Taxes Decrease in 1936

Winnebago County Communities Make Final Reports

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau) Oshkosh—Practically all the villages and cities of Winnebago county have made a final tax report to the county with Earl E. Fuller, county treasurer, and improved conditions are reflected in the drop of tax delinquencies, he said today.

The city of Menasha settled with County Treasurer Fuller Monday afternoon, turning over $26,280.00 in cash and reporting $86,419.97 in delinquent taxes. Delinquent taxes turned over in 1936 amounted to $47,570.11.

Total delinquent taxes for the entire county, Mr. Fuller revealed, dropped from a high of $394,902.49 in 1936 to $331,801.23 for 1937. Last year 7192 properties were reported tax delinquent in the county. This year this figure has been reduced to 6394, the county treasurer's record shows.

Villages and cities in the county which have shown the most improvement in cutting down delinquent taxes are: town of Clayton, town of Menasha, town of Neenah, town of Winnebago, and the cities of Neenah and Menasha.

Two Menasha Boys to Get Chance With Brews

Menasha—Two products of Menasha baseball send J. Ben Pawlowski and Jim Leopold, will leave Thursday, April 15, for Hopkinsville, Ky., where they will be given a chance to play ball at the Milwaukee-St. Paul team under Richard "Red" Smith, a former Kaunabona player.

Both boys have played baseball here with the American Legion team, the Twin City Gold Label team and other teams in the Valley league and Northern State league. Pawlowski is a catcher and Leopold is a second baseman. Contracts for both ball players were signed last fall after Smith had seen them in action at Green Bay.

GENERAL WEATHER—A rather deep low which is now central over Colorado has been attended by rain or snow since yesterday morning over Iowa, northern Illinois and over sections of the plains states and western sections of the country. But fair weather is general this morning over most of the central and eastern states.

Temperatures are now rising over the central and plains states and over the Canadian northwest, but temperatures are falling over the central Rocky mountains. Snow is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with rising temperature.

Calls State Leader In Liberal Politics

Washington—(P)—John Lapp, head of the FWA labor relations bureau, extolled Wisconsin last night to a group of Milwaukee high school students as a leading state in liberal political thought.

"Wisconsin," he said, at a dinner meeting, "opened the eyes of the country to the fact that government is a servant of the people and that government must be held ready to account to the people."

Lapp, former head of the social science department for Marquette university at Milwaukee, described Wisconsin as the state which has "given the nation a new light—a light to lead the nation to better things."

His audience, about 75 civic and history pupils of Milwaukee high schools, also heard short talks by Senator F. Ryan Duffy and Representative Thomas O'Malley, both of Wisconsin, in which they explained the functions of the senate and house.

Despite killing of 7,228 moose in Sweden during a brief open season, the number of the animals is increasing rapidly.

DRIVER INJURED WHEN CAR COLLIDES WITH TRAILER
Philip Brewer, 1641 Belmont avenue, Chicago, was seriously injured Monday morning when his car, shown above, crashed into the car and trailer of Fred Becker, route 2, Neenah, on Highway 41 near Neenah. Brewer suffered internal injuries and a possible skull fracture. He is confined to Mercy hospital, Oshkosh, where attendants report his condition improved this morning. Lumber from the trailer went through the windshield. Both cars were traveling south and the sheriff department report stated that the Chicago man attempted to pass the trailer and car of Becker. The latter was not injured although his car and trailer were thrown into a nearby field. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Milking Championship to Be Decided at Dairymen's State Confab at Oshkosh

Oshkosh—(P)—The milking cow and her royal consort, the herd, are reigning supreme today at the Wisconsin Dairymen's association sixtieth annual convention.

Dairy cattle—their improvement, production and care—were the chief interest in and out of the convention hall. They dominated conversation and formal speech. Even at meal time there was evidence of the interest in when they are held—menus featured dairy dishes.

Moreover, the farmers thought so well of the means of increasing their milk production that they moved some purchased stock right into the lobby of a leading hotel. Said J. C. Nisbet, association secretary: "That's how your real dairy farmer regards his cows. Noting's too good for them. Before the delegates bed down here, the delegates had plenty of hay and water and a lot of straw for the animals."

The cattle were brought in for something more than mere show purposes, however. They are performers. The cows will be used late this afternoon when Mrs. Margaret Greco of Jefferson, defends her state women's milking championship against Mrs. Arthur Neumann of Larsen.

Bull-Throwing Act
Mrs. Greco's accomplishment in winning the title was 185 pounds of milk in three minutes. Mrs. Neumann drew 147 pounds in a like period in Saratoga's elimination contest between 13 Wisconsin county farm women.

The 2,600-pound bull shown in the hotel will be Nisbet's opponent in a bull-throwing act. The career, Nisbet has entered, to explain, is something of a wrestling match, not a demonstration of tongue wagging. "A professional bull can be pretty troublesome," Nisbet said. "But there are ways of subduing even the worst. It's going to demonstrate."

While the farmers met in the convention hall to hear addresses by Prof. James W. Lacey of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, John D. Jones, Jr., of the farm credit administration, junior dairymen met this morning in a session of their own.

Tomorrow's dairy feast—the convention banquet at which Wisconsin's famous milk producers will be featured—is a sell-out. Arrangements were made for 1,000 guests. Nisbet said the ticket supply was exhausted over the weekend, numerous local dairymen's groups ordering blocs of 50 and 40 at a time.

Governor Philip F. LaFollette was on the banquet program as guest speaker.

Favors Licensing Of All Airports
Madison—(P)—A bill introduced today by Senator Kenneth White, (R), River Falls, provides for state registration and licensing of airports by the industrial commission.

The bill sets up a $2 registration fee and grants the commission regulatory powers. It forbids flying of any unlicensed civilian aircraft in the state and requires that pilots have a federal pilot's license or student's permit.

Senator Earl Leverich, (P), Sparta, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, presented a bill allowing a tolerance of 2 per cent in the moisture content of Swiss cheese. His bill would amend the present law, providing for 45 per cent milk fat content, by setting a minimum of 43 per cent.

The senate adopted a resolution by Senator Roland Kannenberg, (P), Wausau, calling upon the state banking commission to report the names of all banks closed since Jan. 1, 1933, with the names of stockholders and assessments against them, showing the amounts paid and unpaid.

Kannenberg said assessments have not been enforced and depositors in some banks "have been left holding the bag."

REVOLUTION

... on Main Street

GIVE a thought to Main Street as you scan today's headlines! All the world's excitement isn't in Europe.

For, in our town... and towns like ours clear across the country... there's a daily revolution going on. Changes in dress styles and food prices... the rise of a hat crown... the fall of furniture prices—these matters vitally affect our daily living... And the news is ably, fully covered in advertisements. Here, in concise, meaty form, makers of the world's goods tell you what's new, what's good... and how to make your dollars S-T-R-E-T-C-H.

Smart people who like to be up-to-the-minute in living AND current events, follow advertisements as closely as headlines. They know what's doing in Europe and America... but they also know where money buys most!

Downs St. Mary Of Clark Mills In Title Match

Score 25 to 17: St. Mary, Manitowoc. Cops Consolation

DIOCESAN GRADE SCHOOL TOURNAMENT
Monday Afternoon Results
St. Mary, Clark Mills, 15, St. Mary Manitowoc, 14 (semi-finals).
St. Luke, Two Rivers, 25, St. John, Green Bay, 8 (semi-finals).
Evening
St. Mary, Manitowoc, 17, St. John, Green Bay, 11 (consolation).
St. Luke, Two Rivers, 25, St. Mary, Clark Mills, 17 (final).

Menasha—Swishing 14 of his team's 25 points, Kenneth Wondrash, all-tournament center, led St. Luke, Two Rivers to a 25-17 victory over St. Mary, Clark Mills, to win the sixth annual diocesan grade school basketball tournament last night at St. Mary gymnasium, Menasha.

The Two Rivers aggregation was easily the class of the tournament winning all of its games by wide margins. The squad won its semi-final battle by completely outclassing the strong St. John quintet from Green Bay by a 32 and 8 score. In the quarter-finals, the champions defeated St. Mary, Kaukauna, 32 and 12, and in the first round won 15 and 7 from St. Patrick, Menasha.

St. Mary, Clark Mills, won the right to enter the finals by defeating St. Mary, Manitowoc, in a close battle by a 15-14 score but lost to the St. Luke team to wind up the second best team in the tournament. The Clark Mills squad was considered a dark horse until it reached the semi-finals.

Consolation honors were won by the St. Mary squad from Manitowoc which defeated St. John, Green Bay, 17 and 11, in the first game played last night. St. John looked like a sure winner in its earlier battles but cooled when it met the tournament winners in the semi-finals.

Enthusiastic crowds watched every session of the tournament which was a success from every angle. The fact that local teams were eliminated in the first round of play made no difference in the gate and proved to the sponsors that fans enjoy grade school cage games as much as any other type of basketball.

Brewers Ready For First Game

Will Meet New York Giants Thursday in Exhibition

Bloom, Miss.—The Milwaukee Brewers starting line-up for its first exhibition game of the season next Thursday with the New York Giants was picked today.

Manager Alonzo Sobush said the batting order would be Otto Blizge, shortstop; Tom Herman, centerfield; Mickey Heatin, first base; Ted Galbre, right field; Ken Keltner, third base; Jack Kizza, left field; Eddie Rose, second base; Bill Brenzel and Harry Graydon, catchers.

Garland Braxton, crarry left hander, will pitch the opening three frames. Sobush said, Alon Johnson of Pulaski, Wis. is the last three, and either Bobby Schreiner or Ray Wallen the others.

Lin Stork, regular third baseman, and Francis Unat, foot outfielder, still remained unsigned.

The Brewers held their hardest training of the season yesterday. Heinrich featured at bat.

Helen Hicks Shoots 76 at Golf Tourney
Augusta, Ga.—A record breaking 76 in the qualifying round of the Augusta invitational golf tournament for women set up Helen Hicks as the player to beat in match play which began today.

The sturdy professional from Hewitt, L. I. shaved three strokes from women's par over the Forest Hills layout and lowered by a stroke the tournament record set by Mrs. Margaret Cronin Grew in 1935.

Miss Hicks drew Grace Amory, another Long Islander, who qualified at 84 as her first round opponent.

Training Camp Briefs

By the Associated Press
AKELAND, Fla.—South paw pitching trouble was first on Manager Mickey Cochrane's trouble list today at the Detroit Tiger camp. One of his best rookie pets, Clyde Hatter, was wild and ineffective in the 6 to 2 loss to Boston's Bees yesterday. Cochrane hoped for better work from other left-handers today against Washington.

Orlando, Fla.—Observers who watched Washington beat Boston, 4 to 1, said today it looks as if the playing days of Joe Cronin are ended.

Cronin leided third base to Pinky Higgins and now is being bested for second base by a rookie from the west coast, Bobby Doerr.

Winter Haven, Fla.—Winter Haven merchants have declared a half-holiday Wednesday when the Phillies play Mickey Cochrane's Detroit Tigers at Denison field. An epidemic of sore arms among the Phillies' pitchers caused Manager Wilson to limit yesterday's drill to one session.

Mexico City—Connie Mack revamped his Philadelphia Athletics' batting order for exhibition games with major and minor league rivals.

San Bernardino, Calif.—Kept idle by a snowstorm yesterday, the Pittsburgh Pirates returned to the practice field today. Several players, including Lloyd Waner, were ill with colds.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Joe DiMaggio began the sternest test of a ball player's worth in the big time, "the second year," with a pair of hits in his first game with the Yankees and a firm resolve to use a lighter bat as the season progresses.

Gulfport, Miss.—Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons may pitch the Giants' opening game of the season against the Brooklyn Dodgers according to Colonel Bill Terry. Terry thinks Fitz is nearer top form than any other hurler.

BOWLING CHAMP

Here's Everett Wegner, the city match bowling champion, who defeated Bud Stach Sunday evening for the title. Wegner was very much a "darkhorse" among the 64 klegers who started the tourney several weeks ago. ## Guardsmen Cop Last Cage Game

Beat New London Cities Service Quintet by 23 to 18 Score

Company D basketball team closed the season last night with a 23 to 18 victory over the Freiburger Cities Service team of New London at Armory G. The win evened the series between the two teams. A few days ago the Guards lost a 20 to 13 verdict to the Cities Service.

The first quarter saw the score tied at 3-all and the half saw the count 5-all as the teams staged a great defensive game. In the third quarter the Guards took a 13 to 11 lead and then continued to hold it until the end.

Bauers and Sellers started for the guards with nine and eight points, respectively. Glocke and Smith each got five for the Freibergers.

Braddock Winner In First Round of Joust With Deputy

Miami, Fla.—A Superior footwork seemed today to have given heavyweight champion Jim Braddock his opening round in his legal war with Madison Square Garden to determine if he will defend his title first against Max Schmeling or Joe Louis.

The Garden obtained a circuit court order yesterday requiring Braddock to show why he should not be restricted from boxing the Negro in Chicago June 22 without first meeting Max for the Garden in New York April 8 was set for a hearing.

Braddock couldn't be found by a deputy sheriff who went out to serve the order. The champion left the Tropical Park race track shortly before the deputy arrived.

The deputy told the champion was not in his hotel room on Miami Beach, had no better success in visit to Miami night spots.

The city assessor planned to resume the search today, but there was a persistent rumor that Braddock would be on his way northward.

Henry Picard Points For Another Golf Win

Pinehurst, N. C.—Lanky Henry Picard, who has always found the Pinehurst course to his liking, sought today to join Walter Hagen and the Ross Brothers as the only three time winners of the famous old North and South open golf tournament.

He also hoped to stretch his recent winter tourney victories to three in a row, for with Johnny Revolta he won the Miami, and with Francis Ford the St. Augustine four-ball events.

Wisconsin Telephone company remained tied for third place honors with two wins over the Liethen Grains. Bill Hobbins blasted a 219 and 588 for the winners and M. Forster a 505 series and 205 game for the Grains.

Six Teams Attend Softball Meeting

American Leaguers Plan For Season: Meet Again April 5

Six teams which performed in the American Softball league last year, attended a meeting of managers and league officers last night at the Y. M. C. A. and expressed interest in the coming season. The teams were Woolen Mills, Coated Paper, Atlas Mill, Machines-K-C, Fox River and Riverside. The teams expressed a desire for an eight team circuit this summer and set April 5 for the next meeting.

The Tuttle Press, Wire Works and Interlake of last year were not represented. The Tuttle situation is indefinite while the Wire Works quit softball because of shift work. Interlake also has a problem to solve before it will join the circuit again.

Renaissance Cagers Will Meet Oshkosh Pros Again

OSHKOSH—An attempt to bring a world's championship in professional basketball to the Fox river valley, home of the Green Bay Packers, national pro champions in football, will be made by the Oshkosh All Stars, Thursday and Saturday evenings when the local quintet meets the New York Renaissance on the local floor.

Should the Oshkosh team win both games it will lay claim to the title by virtue of four victories in seven games with the holders. In previous games this season, the Rens emerged victorious in three of the five contests. The colored cagers are said to be the outstanding team in the country in all divisions of the game—passing, shooting, and in speed. They can shoot from all angles and from under the basket or out beyond the center of the floor.

Oshkosh will enjoy the advantage of superior height, on an average, but the Rens have not let this bother them in previous games. The team has a few players who tower up as high as 6'6" the All Stars and those who are shorter make up in speed what they lack in height.

"Wee Willie" Smith will be at center for the Rens. He is generally considered one of the best pivot men in the country. At one forward will be giant "Tarzan" Cooper. Others with the squad are "Fat" Jenkins, still one of the fastest men in the pro game; "Bruiser" Saich, "Jack-Rabbit" Berthards, John Holt, and Isaac.

The Oshkosh team is believed to have more of an opportunity this time than previously as the local players, most of whom are high school coaches, are free to practice together in preparation for the games. At the time the Rens were played before, the All Stars were each preoccupied with his own team.

Oshkosh will have its full squad of 10 college and university stars, including two All-Americans, Ed Mulvey, Marquette guard, and LeRoy Edwards, Kentucky, center.

Stage Seven Bouts in School Boxing Tourney

Seven matches in the Wilson Junior High school boxing tournament were staged last week at the school and winners now will meet in additional clashes for school titles. In the 85-pound class, E. Wenzel defeated M. Drier while D. Glaser was whipping R. Piette.

K. Courtney won from C. Hall by forfeit while R. Thompson beat R. Kamps in the other 95-pound class bout. H. Farrand won over C. Patterson in the 105-pound division. In the 125-pound matches, W. Mullen beat R. Hussey and V. Lenhart whipped I. Dominowski.

1,550 Persons at Final Games of Regional Tourney

New London Meet Expected to Bring School Net Profit of $206

NEW LONDON—A crowd of more than 1,550 persons jammed the Washington High school gymnasium last Saturday to witness the last games of the regional basketball tournament, according to figures compiled by H. H. Helms, superintendent of schools and manager of the meet. There were 1,400 paid admissions and considering the six squad rosters, complimentary tickets, band members and the many helpers it is estimated there were another 150 persons present.

While all expense figures were not available yesterday the school will realize an estimated net profit of approximately $206 from total gate receipts of $938.75 for both nights. Expenses were roughly set at about $300. Paid attendance Friday night was estimated at about half that of Saturday.

Funds derived from the tournament are disposed as follows: 5 per cent of the total gate receipts of $46.94 is turned over to the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association, sponsors of the tournaments. From the remainder, $891.81, the expenses are deducted, leaving an estimated net profit of $591.81.

Under the regional set-up established this year the profits are further distributed as follows: 30 per cent more goes to the W. I. A. A., 20 per cent to the school conducting the tournament and 30 per cent is divided equally among the schools participating, including the host city.

The last 10 per cent is set aside for a fund of the W. I. A. A. to pay expenses of teams which took part in district tournaments and were not fully reimbursed. Regional meets all over the state contribute to the fund and all teams in the state receive benefits.

In addition, about $30 was added to the annual book fund through the sale of programs and refreshments.

Women Cagers Gather For National Meet

Wichita, Kas.—Sixteen teams from Florida to California started the second round of the women's national A. A. U. Basketball tournament today.

Tennessee and Kansas led in the number of first-round survivors, each with three. Oklahoma, Texas and Missouri each had two teams and Arkansas, California, Florida and Iowa one.

The champion Tulsa Stenoos, who drew a first round bye, go into action tonight against a small Wamego, Kas. team. The dangerous Des Moines A. I. B. team meets something of an unknown quantity in the Jacksonville, Fla., Shamrocks, who also drew a first round bye.

BIGELOW WEAVERS

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: A pistol shot crashes through Ann Phelps' studio, killing Count Vronski who had been blackmailing her with love letters. Nearby are Anne, Clarke Bigelow and Karsnakoff, the glamorous dancer, who hide the corpse during a party. Later Bigelow and Dr. Austrelitz, the psychologist, move it to Vronski's rooms. Police arrest Thorne Dryden, who hated Vronski, and seek a woman in mink who visited Vronski's apartment the fatal night. Austrelitz attributes to Karsnakoff an anonymous letter to the press exposing Vronski as an impostor.

Chapter 36
"Madame Is Resting"
"HAT do you think we ought to do?" Bigelow asked Austrelitz.
"Find out the truth if we can so that at least we will be in a position to save Dryden if the necessity arises. I'm afraid that's our simple duty since by covering up the actual time and place of the killing we influenced the course of events and caused Dryden to be suspected. If you had called the police when Vronski was shot, Dryden would probably not have been involved at all."
"That's right, I suppose," admitted Bigelow.
"I wonder," said Austrelitz gravely, "if Madame Karsnakoff would see us if we went along there now?"
"You think she'd tell you anything?" asked Bigelow skeptically.
"She might. I could show her that copy of the letter and let her compare it with the facsimile. And I could show her this." He opened his desk drawer and drew out a slip of paper with his letterhead on it.
"You were able to recover it?" cried Bigelow eagerly.
"No-o," admitted Austrelitz, "but I'll let her think I was." He smiled faintly. "And I think I can convince her that I can prove only she could have had the opportunity to type in this office yesterday. I can say that Miss Westcott heard the machine going. She didn't as a matter of fact, but Karsnakoff won't know that either. I don't claim she left finger-prints on the machine because she may have worn gloves."
Bigelow smiled and went to the telephone to call the Carleton. At the dancer's suite, Mariushka answered him.
"Is Madame Karsnakoff there?" asked Bigelow.
"Madame is resting," answered Mariushka. "Who is it speaking, please?"
Bigelow told her.
"Oh, but Madame cannot be disturbed now," said Mariushka. "She has the dress rehearsal room at eight o'clock. Tomorrow night is the opening of the ballet."
"I'd forgotten about that," admitted Bigelow. "Do you suppose she would see me for a few minutes if I came round before she starts for the theater?"
"Oh, no—impossible," said Mariushka. "Madame must repose herself before she dances. And at a dress rehearsal so many things go wrong to try the nerves. Tomorrow perhaps? But then tomorrow is the first performance. I cannot say."
"You don't think she would see me at the theater tonight?"
"Oh, no, no—impossible!" protested Mariushka. "Tomorrow perhaps—in the early afternoon—if it is very important that you see her?"
"Very well," said Bigelow. "Tell her that I telephoned, won't you?"
"Yes, I will tell Madame," said Mariushka. "Goodbye."
Bigelow hung up the receiver with a scowl and an impatient shrug.
"I'd forgotten about her opening tomorrow night," said Austrelitz. "She mentioned it yesterday when she was here and left seats for Anne and you and me."
"We might go along to the theater and try to see her?" suggested Bigelow.
"We wouldn't get in. . . . And even if we did, the time wouldn't be opportune. We don't want to speak hurriedly to her for a few moments. We want to talk with her at our ease. We want to make her talk! Much better wait and try our luck tomorrow."
"I suppose so," murmured Bigelow without enthusiasm. "But I hate the delay. One doesn't know what Hagedorn is up to, all this time. Nor what trouble that baroness woman may be making."
"I know," nodded Austrelitz. The telephone rang. Austrelitz answered it and handed the receiver to Bigelow. "It's Anne—for you," he said.
"Hello!" called Bigelow eagerly into the telephone.
"Hello," said Anne. "I thought I'd find you there when you didn't answer at the hotel. What do you think of that letter in the paper?"
"We think Karsnakoff wrote it," said Bigelow.
"That's what I thought the instant I saw it! That is," Anne amended. "I thought it must have been written by Karsnakoff or the baroness."
"She never occurred to me," admitted Bigelow.
"She occurred to me at once," Anne said gloomily. "She's been on my mind all day."
"Did you receive her apology?" asked Bigelow.
"No. But I got the workmen started on my studio."
"Got them started?" repeated Bigelow incredulously. "So soon?"
"Yes. I chose the colors the first thing this morning while I was having my breakfast and turned the place over to them at noon."
"Good!" cried Bigelow with a feeling of relief.
"What are you doing later on?" asked Anne.
"Something with you. I think. What?" he asked interestedly.
"Well," said Anne. "I'm playing bridge with Mirabelle and some people at Nettlefords. I thought it would be a good plan to stay as friendly as possible with the crowd who were at the studio that night."
"Yes, rather," agreed Bigelow.
"But I'll have enough of that by 11. Anne went on. "and I thought you might rescue me and we'd go on to Midge's."
"Again?" asked Bigelow.
"I've got to keep in the public eye, you know," sighed Anne. "or people will say either that I'm breaking my heart over Vronski's death or that I'm terrified to show my guilty face. You know how people are! And with the baroness spreading these tales—"
"Yes," murmured Bigelow with a sigh.
"But if you don't want to go," said Anne.
"I'd like very much to go," he assured her.
"Pick me up, then, say elevenish," suggested Anne.
"Where?"
"At Nettlefords," said Anne. "It's a branch of the English bridge club. Park avenue near 52nd street. Your taxi driver will know. And I'll leave word at the door so that you'll be admitted without bother and they'll inform me the instant you arrive. See you later, then?"
"You can count on it," answered Bigelow.
"Rouge Simply Fades Out"
At 11 to the moment, he rang the bell at Nettlefords and a butler admitted him, and ushered him into a small reception room to wait. The rooms, he noted, were smartly and expensively furnished. Obviously it was the sort of place where stakes were high and a good deal of money changed hands in the way of private bets. But in the lower part of the house where non-members might

14 Candidates To Compete for Aldermanic Jobs

Six File Papers for Northside Justice of Peace Office

Kaukauna—Despite the withdrawal of three candidates yesterday, 14 Kaukauna residents are still in the race for offices of aldermen, school commissioners and justices of the peace. Robert Main, Second ward candidate for alderman, John M. Kroll and Anton Berkers, nominees for northside justice of the peace, did not file nominations papers at the deadline yesterday and automatically dropped from the race.

Candidates for the northside justice of the peace office include Bernard J. Mitchell, Frank Kern, P. E. Rohan, George Gerrits, John C. Mitchell and Merritt A. Black.

Edward F. Rennie and Marshall Bayoregon, incumbents, are unopposed as school commissioners.

Abe Goldin, incumbent, is opposed by M. C. Connors for the position of southside justice of the peace.

In the race for First ward alderman, Gordon S. VanderLoop, present incumbent, will meet opposition from Al Harzheim in the race for Second ward alderman. Edward R. Seidel will oppose Jacob Miller for reelection in the Third ward long term race.

Theodore L. Seagelink who was appointed Third ward alderman a year ago to succeed Fred Olm who resigned will be opposed by Miles Rasmussen for the short term.

In the Fourth ward Oscar Alger, incumbent, will face opposition from Emmet W. Rohan.

Three candidates, George Luedke, Bruno Kraft and Walter Kilgas, have filed nomination papers for the Fifth ward alderman position. Frank Gertz, incumbent, is not a candidate for reelection.

Chilton Residents at Fond du Lac Funeral

Chilton—Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Morrissey were in Fond du Lac Monday to attend the funeral of the latter's sister, Mrs. Caroline Schroeders, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Louise Kuenne in Omaha Thursday at the age of 96. Her death was due to the infirmities of age. She was a sister of the late William Rothmann, and was born in Calumetville, Fond du Lac county, Feb. 10, 1841. Here she grew to womanhood, and here she was married to Ferdinand Schroeders, who died while still a young man, leaving her with four small children. She lived on the farm in Calumetville until the marriage of her daughter, since when she has made her home in Omaha. Besides the daughter, survivors are one son, Hugh of St. Paul, Minn., the other two sons, Dominick and Dr. Richard having died a few years ago; leaves four grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, and one great-grandchild, a sister, Mrs. Herman Wipperfurth, Milwaukee. The funeral was held from the Hardgrove-Gordon funeral home in Fond du Lac at 1:30 Monday afternoon. Burial was in the family lot in Calumetville.

30 Organizations Join Anti-Cancer Drive This Week

Mrs. John Cleland Head of Local Campaign for Donations

Kaukauna—This city's drive against cancer which has as its aim the distribution of literature regarding the disease and the solicitation of funds for research work in that field started yesterday as 30 organizations set out on a 2-week campaign.

Mrs. John Cleland has been named lieutenant and Mrs. Ed Hass treasurer of the Kaukauna unit in the national women's field army of the American Society for Control of Cancer and will direct this community's work in helping the state of Wisconsin to reach the goal of $25,000. This week is known throughout the United States as fight cancer week.

The solicitation of funds will not be carried on from house to house, Mrs. Cleland said yesterday, but by organizations. Literature has been sent the different groups and activities in the drive have opened.

Plan Campaign

The campaign in Kaukauna was planned at a meeting last week of representatives of the various civic, fraternal and religious bodies at the Kaukauna Public Library under the auspices of the Women's club. Mrs. Richard White of Appleton, vice-commander of the sixth medical district, was present at the meeting and explained the method and purposes in conducting the drive. It is to her that the local committee will make its semi-weekly reports during the two weeks of the campaign.

The various organizations which were represented at that meeting and which are now cooperating in the fight cancer program by surveying literature and gathering donations are as follows:

List Groups

Woman's Club, Eastern Star, Masonic Order, Ladies Aid societies of Immanuel, Evangelical, and Reformed church, First Congregational church, and Brokaw Memorial Methodist church, Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, north and south side, Akar Society of St. Mary's church, Women's Benefit Association.

America Went Singing in '17 Into 'Great Adventure'

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the anniversary of America's entrance to the World War.)

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

Washington—(AP)—To many Americans this spring will come poignant and amusing memories of those tumultuous days 20 years ago when the United States swung into the World War.

Patriotic enthusiasm mounting to hysteria among an emotional and jingoistic minority. . . . Bewilderment of millions not quite sure what it was all about. . . . Boasts that Uncle Sam would knock out the Kaiser in the first round. . . . Rumors in congress that German officers had landed in Mexico and had taken command of Pancho Villa's forces for invasion of the states. . . . Reports in Washington of concealed German submarines based on Maine's crazy coasts from whence "the Hun's serpents of the sea" would attack United States and Canadian troop ships.

Cracker box and sewing circle whippers that pre-war respected German-Americans in the community launched the biggest sock and sweater knitting campaign in the world's history.

The name of German-ified potatoes was changed to Americanized, sauerkraut became Liberty cabbage, German coffee-cake was a tabooed food in some homes and restaurants with the title Kaiserhof became the United States cafe or the American grill.

Bands blared "Goodbye Broadway, Hello France," and patriotic groups sang the plaintive "Keep the Home Fires Burning." A song, which probably reflected the lighter mood of the average draftee, ran like this:

Goodbye ma, goodbye pa,
Goodbye mule, with your old
hee-haw:
I don't know what this war's about.
But I betcha, by gosh, I soon find out.

It was the mechanical player-piano and not having appeared on the American scene. The black derby for business wear was at high tide, men and women wore high shoes more than they did low ones, although "oxfords" were acceptable footgear for warm weather.

Jaunty But Determined

Short skirts, which were to attain a brevity peak in the mid-twenties, had not arrived yet and petticoats were still an important word in the lexicon of ladies' apparel. Young bloods of 1917 smoked cork-tipped Turkish cigarettes, wore belted-back coats, drove Kissel car double-sixes, litte Lexingtons and sporty Saxson roadsters. But they soon learned that

It was the fellow in the olive drab of Uncle Sam's soldiers who was "ace-high" with the girls.

It was a jaunty, as well as determined, in the spring of 1917 on the "great adventure" of saving the world for democracy. The long casualty lists had not yet appeared to tell their somber story to a nation grown more sober in the grim business of war.

It was the fellow in the olive drab of Uncle Sam's soldiers who was "ace-high" with the girls.

It was a jaunty, as well as determined, in the spring of 1917 on the "great adventure" of saving the world for democracy. The long casualty lists had not yet appeared to tell their somber story to a nation grown more sober in the grim business of war.

Need Leadership To Make Scout Program Succeed

Program Also Provides Something for Boys to Do, Leaders Told

New London—The leadership of the men of the community and something for boys to do are two facts at the root of every successful Boy Scout movement, a group of about 20 men were told last night by Herb Heilig, chairman of the Valley council leadership training committee, in the first meeting of a series in a training course to be held at Washington high school. Heilig is director of the vocational school at Appleton.

The second meeting will be held next Monday when another prominent and experienced scout leader will speak. Members decided last night to see that more members of the New London scout committee, especially executive members, and representatives of organizations and institutions in the city are present for the instructions.

Discusses Jamboree
Mr. Heilig touched briefly on the New London jamboree program, which is scheduled here for June 11, 12 and 13, and then he expressed belief that New London was too new at the game to be awarded the annual event, it could be put over with plenty of work and cooperation. The program is purely a local one he said but the council will be glad to aid with advice and suggestions. The jamboree will provide a tremendous impetus to scouting in New London, he predicted, and interest will be greater with a local scout troop participating. Troop organization and functions will be taken up at the next training meeting in preparation for reorganization here.

The director outlined the aims and purpose of scouting and how they are carried out through men leadership and the proper activities of the boys under sponsorship. Character and citizenship training are impressed on Boy Scouts by living the ideals as exemplified in the scout law and oath, he explained.

Furniture Workers Will Organize at New London

New London—The first in a series of organization meetings was held by the New London Furniture Workers local, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, at Union hall Friday evening. Jay A. Hathaway, first vice president of the Wisconsin Council of Carpenters, spoke before a capacity crowd.

Delegates were chosen at the meeting to represent the New London local at a conference of furniture workers from this section of the state at Port Washington Saturday, April 3. The conference is to devise ways and means of lifting the furniture industry out of the low wage class into which it has fallen in Wisconsin, it is said. Francis M. Griswold, Ben Schmidt and Walter Lewis were named the delegates and it was decided to organize a motorcade to accompany them to Port Washington.

Cites Campaign
Hathaway emphasized that all over the nation and particularly in Wisconsin millmen and furniture workers are awakening to the need for organization and are affiliating with the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. He gave some details of the recent organization of 1,400 millmen and furniture workers at Oshkosh. The situation in New London is similar to that which existed in Oshkosh, he said. Attorney Walter P. Melchior also spoke to the workers on the proposed Wisconsin Labor Disputes

Bill and advised on labor problems affecting labor in New London. Melchior is the attorney for New London Labor unions.

City Clerk Tells Club How Tax Dollar Is Spent

New London—The municipal tax dollar is spent as the people of the community want it expended and modern conveniences and facilities can make the spending an expensive burden, Mrs. J. C. Freeman, city clerk, told 40 members of the New London Business and Professional Women's club at the monthly dinner meeting at the Elwood hotel last evening. Only 38 cents of every tax dollar paid to the city treasurer is used by city departments. The other 62 cents pays the state and county taxes, she explained.

Enlargement of the local education program, maintenance of police and fire protection, streets and lighting, health programs, sewage disposal, furnishing library facilities and providing city parks, all are done at the request of citizens through their aldermen or by petition and any can be eliminated at will, she said. The city can do for its citizens only what they are willing to pay for, she emphasized.

Of the many taxes, luxury, sales, gasoline, dog, tobacco and innumerable others; real estate, personal and income are the ones most familiar to all and the first two are the only ones from which municipalities draw funds. Even dog taxes go to the county to create a fund for payment of damages done by dogs, etc. Others are collected by state and federal agencies. The city will realize a tax income of $162,447 in 1937 from an assessed valuation of $4,512,420, the city clerk pointed out. The budget calls for $251,137 and the balance is received through other sources.

Mrs. Freeman stressed the important position of the administrators of city government and favored civil service requirements for such positions, thus removing political influence.

Entertainment at the dinner was provided by Miss Rose Kische who sang several vocal selections and Miss Reachel Spearbraker with several violin solos.

INJURES HAND
New London—Kenneth Greenlaw suffered a badly bruised right hand yesterday afternoon in an accident at the mill of the New London Wood and Lumber company where he was working. While guiding edgings down a box chute a heavy piece came down unexpectedly and crushed his hand when the wood fell on it. An X-ray showed no bones broken.

Miriam Hopkins says:

"My throat welcomes Luckies—my favorite cigarette for 5 years"

"Luckies have been my favorite cigarette for about 5 years. They're a light smoke that sensitive throats welcome. Of the many trends that sweep through Hollywood, one of the longest lasting has been the preference for Luckies. I once asked a 'property' man—who supplies cigarettes to the actors—what the favorite is. He answered by opening up a box containing cigarettes. They were all Luckies."

KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Hopkins verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies.
